The Academy

Woodward Academy, as an institution, can best be described by the word unique. Most certainly Woodward is unique in its heritage. Having existed for eighty years, it provides a stability for its people that is difficult to find elsewhere. Throughout the Woodward community, heritage is especially evident in its campus. Buildings from many different time periods come together harmoniously to form a campus unlike any other. With the passing years, the heritage of Woodward grows, as each generation adds its own important touches to the school community. In addition, Woodward is also unique in its attitude, that special pride that is found in all the people who are a part of the Academy. The special relationships found among students, staff, and parents insure the smooth operation of the school. Hardworking, dedicated people are behind every aspect of Woodward life, making their often unrecognized contributions. Furthermore, because they value the uniqueness of Woodward, people come to the Academy from many different states, as well as several foreign countries. Woodward's people have their own special look; a look which has nothing to do with wearing the Academy uniform. Finally, the atmosphere Woodward provides is unequalled. A twenty-four hour school, Woodward has activities occurring around the clock and through these many activities, students have the freedom to develop in the areas that interest them. These many unique aspects of Woodward Academy come together to make the school what it is, a fine educational institution-proud of its heritage, sure of its future.

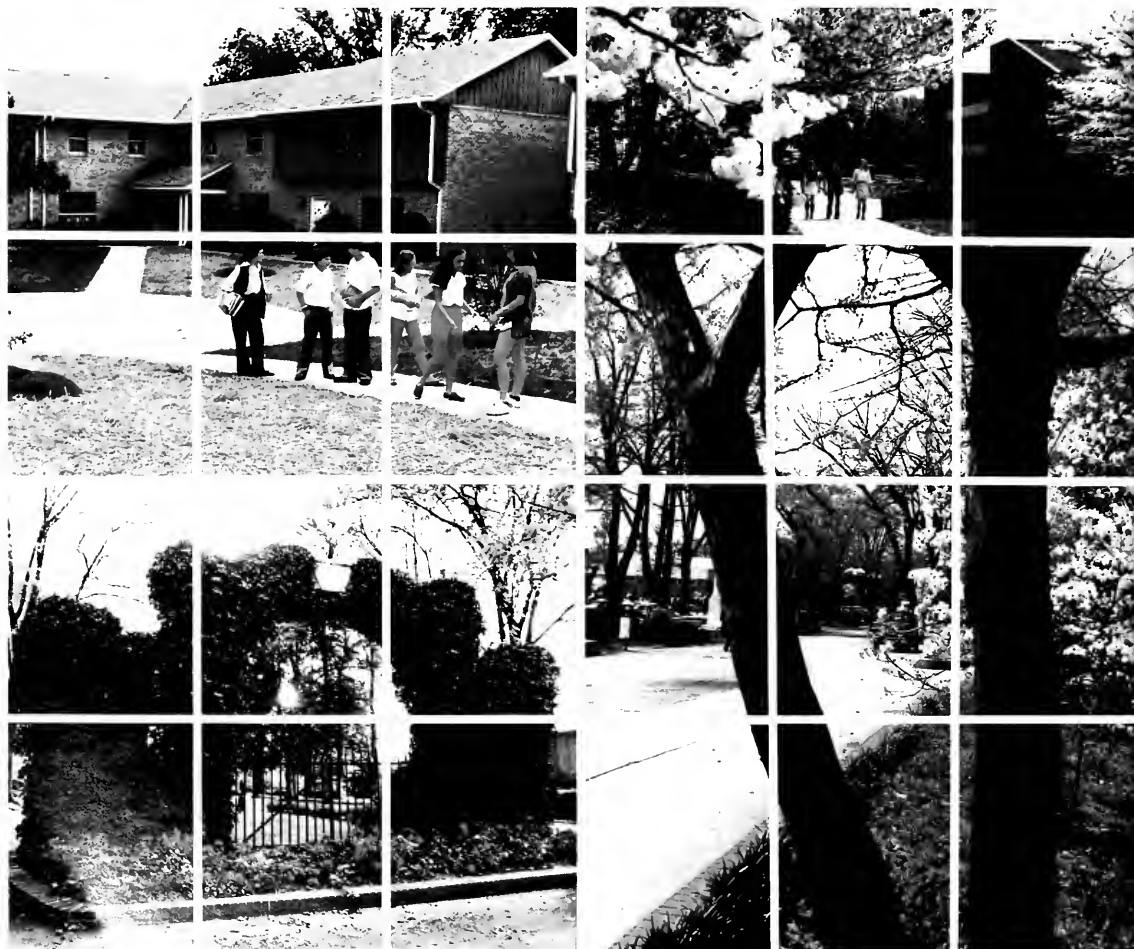

THE ENVIRONMENT

One of the many unique aspects of Woodward is its campus. Unlike other area schools, the campus is located on thirty-six acres in College Park, a part of the metro-Atlanta area. A variety of buildings dating from various stages of the Academy's eighty-one-year history enables the people of Woodward to say proudly that they are a part of an institution unparalleled anywhere else.

Probably one of the most outstanding aspects of Woodward's campus is Richardson Hall, the fine arts center. Located in this large building is a three-hundred and fifty seat performing arts auditorium which provides the perfect setting for the many plays, musicals, and concerts performed by Woodward students. Also located in this building is Woodward's own television studio where interested students study television journalism technique through WATV productions. In addition, facilities are available for students to sculpt, paint, and work with pottery. Finally, the Fine Arts Center houses Woodward's dance and hand studios.

The heritage of GMA-Woodward shows in its campus, giving it an unusual sense of timelessness. To those on campus, the best known example of Woodward's heritage is the front gate. Constructed in 1935, the front gate has been a symbol of Woodward's quality and stability for many years. The impressive monuments are familiar features which both testify to Woodward's heritage and add beauty to the campus.

Woodward's campus also contains many impressive student-oriented facilities. The student lounge, Colquitt Hall, is one of these facilities and provides a place for the students of Woodward to relax, enjoy a snack, study in groups, watch television, or play games such as table tennis or pocket billiards. Another favorite spot on campus is the courtyard. Located in the center of Brewster Hall, the courtyard provides the students with an outside area in which to talk with friends or study. Through its many student-oriented facilities, Woodward creates an enjoyable place to work and grow.

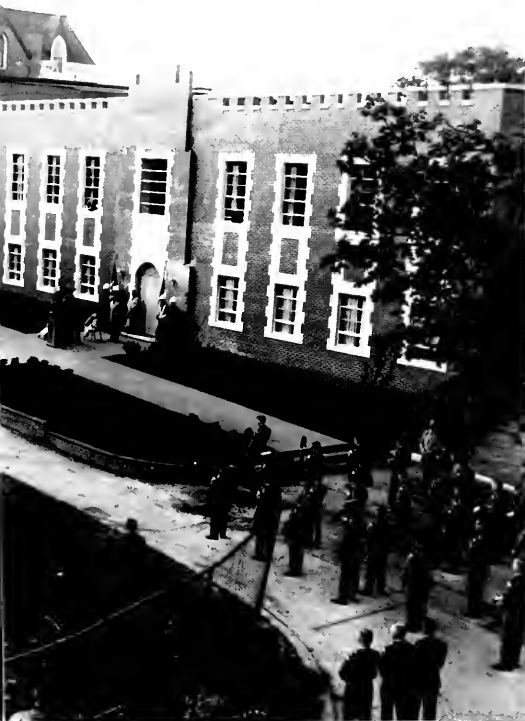

Heritage

Having existed for eighty-one years, Woodward Academy has a special heritage, one that its people are proud of. Founded as Georgia Military Academy, Woodward has come a long way from its early days to the modern college preparatory school it is today. Woodward, because of its stable heritage, can expect an even brighter future.

Woodward Academy owes John Charles Woodward deeply for many of its great qualities. Colonel Woodward, his wife, and one other teacher established the school in 1900 on a campus comprised of only one building. With $1,500 to organize an enrollment of thirty cadets, Woodward established Georgia Military Academy. His forty years of dedicated service, as the school's first president, transformed GMA from its humble beginnings into one of the South's finest military academies. When formal military training ended in 1966, the Academy was renamed in honor of Colonel Woodward. The Academy's development has been aided, as well, by other great men. Colonel William R. Brewster, Sr. succeeded Colonel Woodward, and provided commendable leadership for some twenty years. His son, Captain William R. Brewster, Jr. followed in his father's footsteps and became the institution's third president. It was Captain Brewster's leadership that allowed Woodward to change with the times. During his term, the male military school, GMA, became an outstanding co-educational college preparatory school. In 1978, Dr. Gary M. Jones became the fourth president and, with the Board of Governors, has further aided the continuous growth of the Academy. Their guidance has helped Woodward Academy develop into an exceptional institution.

Woodward Academy has a long, successful heritage. The people of Woodward are proud of the military school of the past which laid the foundations for the Woodward Academy of today.

WAR EAGLE PRIDE

A unique aspect of the Woodward personality is pride. There are numerous opportunities for students and faculty to get involved in school functions, and both groups actively participate. What is unique, though, is that students participate for the school as well as for themselves. Students gain valuable experience while proudly bringing recognition to the Academy.

The War Eagles teams make tremendous time and physical commitments, and these have paid off greatly. Their spectacular records have made the whole Woodward community proud of them.

The service clubs at Woodward are something else to be proud of. The Key, Interact, and Junior Civitan clubs do admirable works for the community. The Hunger Task Force, a newer organization, has done outstanding work for the poor in the community. Those unselfish activities are also deserving of pride.

Woodward's academic excellence is known far and wide. Students gain recognition on city, state, and national levels for themselves and the Academy.

The artistic contributions of Woodward's Fine Arts departments cannot be ignored. The Drama Club has consistently received rave reviews, the Art Club has exhibited works at impressive places such as Hartsfield Terminal. The Festival Chorale has sung with well-known celebrities such as Barry Manilow. We can definitely be proud of their achievement.

Generally speaking, even after only one year at Woodward, most students and faculty members would unashamedly say that they share a more than normal partiality to the colors of red and white and swell with intense pride when they hear a song which begins with the words, "Standing here in reverent prayer."

The Woodward community realizes the Academy tradition of greatness and most feel fortunate to be a part of that living tradition. "Woodward pride" is a driving force behind the institution, and will continue to be an integral aspect of the Woodward personality in years to come.

Since coming to the Academy in 1950, Mrs. Betty Hays has watched literally thousands of students begin their first timid days of school life, grow into energetic Upper Schoolers and finally mature into the successful adults she always knew they would become. In addition to her usual Lower School secretarial duties such as typing and filing, Mrs. Hays skillfully bandages scraped knees and doctors hurt egos with a kind of "common sense psychology" that every child needs at some time or another. Being the versatile person that she is, Mrs. Hays has taught kindergarten and typing, monitored the student lounge, and acted as secretary to six lower school principals. Having watched the institution's development over the past thirty years, Mrs. Hays maintains that each year, the Academy gets better and better. We feel the same holds true for Mrs. Betty Hays.

Mrs. Toni Wallace is one of those in the Woodward community that keeps phenomenally busy. If you walk past her desk in the Upper School counseling office, she is always working on a project, getting grade reports together, or making counselor appointments. Besides her quality of staying busy, perhaps the most noticeable characteristic about Mrs. Wallace is the fact that she is always incredibly nice to everyone. Students, teachers, and parents are all "greeted and treated" in the same friendly and competent manner that has effectively become Toni Wallace's trademark. Having to visit the counseling office to discuss a deficiency or something of like nature is never a situation that one looks forward to, but knowing that Mrs. Wallace is the first person that you'll deal with makes the experience not quite so frightening. Smiles and kind words come easily to Toni Wallace. For that, we can all be grateful.

Bill Largin, a 12th grade student has attended Woodward since 6th grade. Beginning in his first year here, he has worked on the upper and lower school television crews and in 1978, he began working with the Fine Arts Department in technical drama, on the play "Don't Drink the Water." Since then, he has been involved in all of the school's dramatic productions, including being technical director for two one-act plays, the school musical in 1979, and producer of the lower and middle school production of "The Wizard of Oz." Bill feels that Woodward has helped develop his interest in electronics, and because of his experience here, he plans a career in telecommunications. Known for his persistent attitude, Bill was elected Most Industrious Senior by the members of his class.

Known to almost everyone at Woodward, Mrs. Joan Jones fulfils her role at the Academy in a quiet and friendly manner. As the President's wife, she is often called on to assist with a multitude of Academy projects which range from helping with Parent's Day to acting as hostess at Alumni Homecoming activities. Evident from ones first meeting with Mrs. Jones is her genuine warmth and positive attitude. Although Woodward functions keep her busy, Mrs. Jones always finds time for one of her favorite hobbies-gardening. Students leaving campus in the afternoon can often see Mrs. Jones working in her yard or gathering vegetables from the garden next to the President's Home. Mrs. Jones is certainly one of Woodward's most likeable personalities; we are fortunate to have such a gracious lady in our midst.

PERSONALITY PROFILES

To many students she is affectionately known as "Mom." And for nine years, Mrs. Margaret Finch has indeed acted as surrogate parent, psychologist, teacher, sometime disciplinarian, but always friend to the hundreds of Woodward students who venture in to the Colquitt Student Center to study, pass some time away at the pool tables, or simply talk. About Woodward, Mrs. Finch says, "I love this place and the kids, they're are my life: they keep me going." Mrs. Finch's devotion to the school and its students is evident in her pro-Academy attitude. As she crisscrosses the campus each day, students seeming compete for her attention; Mrs. Finch never disappoints them as she greets each one by name. If ever there could be a Mrs. Chips, she would most certainly be personified in our Mrs. Finch.

The word "involved" probably is the best one to describe Miss Debbi English. Since coming to Woodward three years ago, she has taught both second and third grades in the Academy's Lower School. Miss English also assists Mr. McClung with Festival Chorale productions, helps Dean Krueger as the faculty coordinator of resident life activities, and is the Academy's assistant swimming coach. Her magnetic personality literally draws people to her. Often, at the end of conversations, Miss English tells students that she is glad that they had an opportunity to see her. In fact, we are fortunate to see her and to work with someone with so much energy and such a positive approach toward students.

The people of W.A. share a unique sense of closeness, of belonging to a family composed of Woodward's administrators, teachers, counselors, and students. In this family, relationships exist between all sectors of the Woodward community. At the Academy, students see administrators, teachers, and counselors as truly interested people, not just as persons with authority.

Many of the relationships at W.A. naturally involved the students who make up the majority of the community. A unique relationship exists between Woodward students and administrators because students are encouraged to go to them with ideas and problems: administrators do not live behind closed doors out of the student's reach. The teacher-student relationships are very special also because Woodward teachers put forth an extra effort to help the student achieve his goals. The tutorial period probably exemplifies this effort best because during this time, teachers give students one-to-one instruction, going beyond their classroom duties to help the student succeed.

Another of the unique relationships at Woodward Academy, is the student-counselor relationship. The counselors act not only as advisors, helping students plan schedules, make college and career choices, but are friends listening to students' problems and trying to help them.

Probably the most important aspect of Woodward's many unique relationships is the fact that Woodward students see teachers as "real people". Teachers at the Academy interact with students as coaches and club advisors, as chaperones for interesting field trips and dorm parents for resident students. Through participation, the faculty show the students that teachers "do other things", too. Administrators, also, involve themselves in all aspects of school life, giving wholehearted support to the many and diverse activities which contribute to the unique quality that distinguishes Woodward Academy.

Relationships

WOODWARD

The Front Gate is perhaps the most recognized structure of the Academy. Over the years it has symbolized the stability and honor associated with the history of our institution. Interestingly, the Front Gate has not always existed in the same form it does today. Photographs in early yearbooks indicate that a simple iron fence connecting two brick pillars was the first predecessor of the Front Gate. The Senior Class of 1929-30 honored the Academy with the second Front Gate which closely resembles the structure of today. In 1935, the Senior Class presented the Academy with a cast eagle which had a seven foot wingspread and weighed over eight hundred pounds. The gift was a memorial to faculty member Sergeant A.T. Johnson who has suddenly died in October of 1934. The eagle was erected on top of the archway over the entrance to the campus, but because of the great weight of the eagle, it was necessary to raze the second Front Gate and construct a third gate similar in appearance to the present structure. The only real change between the 1935 edition and the current gate is that, in the late sixties, the entrance and exit ways were moved from under the arch to either side of it, and the passage way under the archway was permanently blocked with an iron fence.

In the late 1800's, College Park, then called Manchester, was just being laid out. Citizens of the town felt the need for a strong academic program for young men; a military school seemed the best option. Some influential townspeople located a large tract of land, bought it, and built Founder's Hall to house Southern Military Academy. The school operated for about three years until a severe small-pox epidemic caused the school to close. Founder's Hall remained unused for several years. Colonel John Charles Woodward was then Superintendent of Schools at Newnan, Georgia. In 1900, eight influential citizens contacted Woodward about moving to College Park to re-establish a school. After considerable thought, Woodward decided to make the move. Later that year, he founded Georgia Military Academy on the first school's grounds.

Today, Woodward Academy continues to perpetuate those principles established by its founders: opportunity for each student, a structured, disciplined atmosphere, the pursuit of academic excellence, a regard for moral rightness and integrity, and the love of country.

TRIVIA

Six times in the Academy's history a marching unit and the band engulfed Washington, D.C. to help bring in a new President of the United States of America. In the photo above, the Academy's cadets are shown participating in the 1961 Inaugural Parade of John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Georgia Military cadets have also marched in the parades for Teddy Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Eisenhower, and Johnson.

While there are many memorials on our campus, perhaps none is so overlooked as the commemorated rifle pit in the front of Brewster Hall. That monument marks what was once a line of Confederate Fortifications built for the defense of Atlanta during the Civil War. It was this line that was broken by Sherman when he captured Atlanta on his march to the sea. The monument stands a silent witness of the war which swept over our land in the 1860's. The stone marker was erected on the campus by the Daughters of the Confederacy to commemorate the events that took place during the War Between the States. The marker reads:
Site of
Atlanta Breast Works
and Rifle Pits
used for the Defense of Atlanta during the Battle July 1864

Another of the interesting markers on the campus is the Korean War Monument. Given by the Class of '61, it honors those alumni who lost their lives in the Korean War.

CHANGE AT WOODWARD ACADEMY

As progress changes everything, so it has changed Woodward Academy, and like any lasting, successful institution, Woodward has constantly tried new ideas in a continuous attempt to improve itself. The school year 1980-81 saw many changes in administration, curriculum and the physical structure of the campus.

The administrative changes set up a new, triangular administration. Mr. Don Woolf, appointed Vice-President of Curriculum, will be in charge of the student aspects of Woodward, giving Dr. Jones the freedom to concentrate on alumni relations, development, and fund raising. Mr. Jim Chandler will act as Vice-President of Finance. Another administrative change has taken place with Mr. Paul Stockhammer becoming Director of Admissions and Mr. Ira P. Sanderson taking on the responsibility of Development.

In the area of curriculum, the emphasis in 1980-81, is on quality instead of quantity, giving students a deeper knowledge in essential areas. The school day has been shortened to six periods each lasting 50 minutes. Teachers have been asked to set higher standards for student work. Dr. Jones expresses this approach by saying "I would rather a student take four or five challenging subjects and do well, than be spread so thin over many subjects."

Renovations have been made in the physical structure of Woodward's campus. Classrooms have been added in Tucker Hall of the Lower School, and Upper School classrooms have been remodeled. Resident life has been made more pleasant with the remodeling of Weltner I and II, Evans, and Woodward Halls. Rutland Hall, now the pre-school center, has also been remodeled, and a new pre-school wing has been added at the Busey School. In the student parking lot, a separate entrance and exit have been constructed, so traffic will flow in one direction, and parking spaces are now slanted, minimizing confusion and making parking easier.

These many changes have been made because of Woodward's special attitude of always striving to do better. Because of this willingness to change and thereby improve, Woodward Academy again proves that it is a school committed to being "the best" and to making a significant difference in the education of its students.

Woodward: 24 Hours

In Brewster Hall, the Student Information Center, remains busy until 10:30 p.m. on weeknights and until 12:00 on weekends. The T.I.C. office is the hub of all campus activities when classes are not in session. All boarding students must report there to pick up mail, sign in and out, or report for Monitor Duty. The Senior Monitor is responsible for opening the school in the morning, raising the flag, collecting class roles, and locking the gates at night. The Teacher-In-Charge also stays until the Student Information Center closes and is accountable for all on-campus activities after the school day is over.

On Sunday through Thursday nights, Night Study Hall is conducted in Brewster Hall from 7:30 until 9:30. Night Study Hall provides students who are having difficulty in academics an opportunity to receive additional help.

The gym, stadium, and natatorium are other areas of seemingly constant activity. During the summer, many of the athletic teams begin early preparation for the coming season. During the school year, most teams hold practice after classes until 6:00 p.m. and schedule games throughout the week. Some teams such as Woodward's swimmers, also have morning practices which start at 6:30 a.m. in order to better prepare themselves for competition. Most students at Woodward participate in athletics and, as a result, develop school spirit and the ability to work as a team.

People make Woodward Academy a truly twenty-four hour school. The non-stop activity of the Woodward community binds us together and makes our campus special. It creates a unique setting in which students, faculty, and staff can work and learn.

Woodward is similar to many of the Atlanta area schools in some respects. Yet, the one aspect that makes Woodward a truly unique school is the fact that events are taking place on campus almost every day and night including weekends and holidays. The Academy does not close its doors or lock its gates at 6:00 p.m. as many other schools do. On the contrary, in the gym, the dining hall, Student Information Center, and residence halls activities continue virtually around the clock. It is the incessant movement of the faculty, staff and students that produces that unique experience that is Woodward Academy.

One of the main reasons for this non-stop activity is the existence of a resident community comprised of boarding students and on-campus faculty members and their families. "Dorm life" is an experience which most high school students are not exposed to. Although they may feel restricted at times, Woodward boarders seem to agree that after living on campus, they are better prepared than many other students to deal with the type of lifestyle encountered at college. Even though living with dorm parents and having to sign out on weekends is not quite like living with "Mom and Dad," the resident students adapt quickly and become an integral part of life at the Academy.

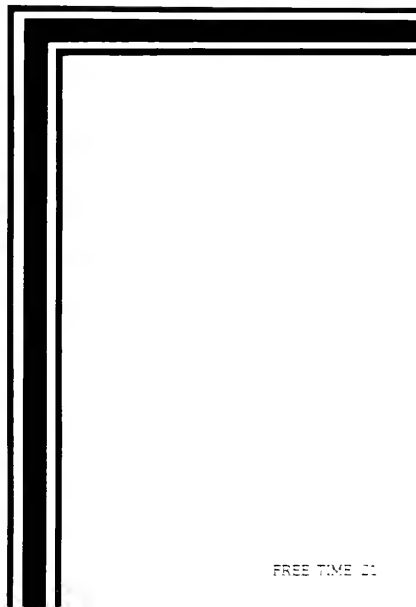

Because of the on-campus housing of teachers and students, the Robert W. Woodruff Dining Hall is used not only for school lunches and assemblies, but also for breakfast and dinner. The dining hall staff reports to work at 5:30 a.m. each day. By nightfall they will have served over two thousand meals. Additionally, the dining hall is used by local civic groups for their evening meetings.

FREE TIME

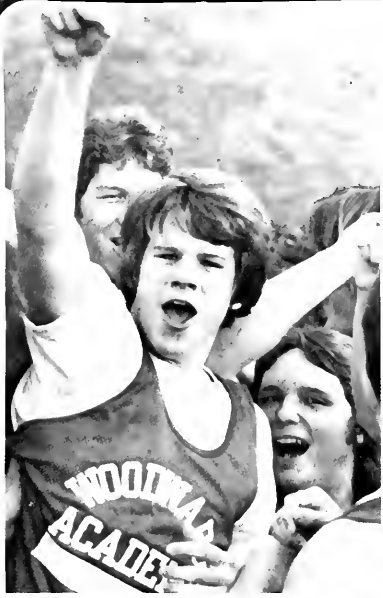

A unique aspect of the program at Woodward is that the students are allowed and encouraged, to work toward goals which they set for themselves. The free time allowed Woodward students exists because, at the Academy, students learn not only basic subjects, but also the management of their own time. Students use this free time for studying, earning extra money, and, of course, relaxing between what most students and teachers agree is a strenuous curriculum.

Because of the rigorous courses that Woodward offers, many students utilize their free time as an opportunity to study. Unlike many other schools, Woodward's library is outstanding for both study and research. Students looking for a quiet place to study that tough chemistry assignment, complete their Spanish homework, or finish reading Hamlet find that place in the McKay Library. The excellent reference aids in the library are more readily available to the student because he can make use of them during free periods. Besides individual study in the library, many students utilize the lounge for group study. Additionally, for those who prefer studying outdoors, benches, located all over the campus, are available. In good weather, it is not unusual to see students in the courtyard during the lunch hour doing some last minute cramming.

STRIVING TOWARD SUCCESS

... Studying ... Working ... Practicing ...

Success is an integral part of life at Woodward Academy. Experience has shown, however, that success is not something that comes easily. Through eighty-one years of diligent effort, the Academy has accomplished much and is considered a successful institution by anyone's standards. Like their predecessors, those in the Academy community of today still commit themselves to the ideal of success in every facet of school life. Striving to achieve is an almost universal characteristic of students, faculty members, and administrators at Woodward. The attitude of maximum and consistent effort explains why members of the Woodward Academy community are consistently viewed as worthy opponents in athletic and academic endeavors. Because of their compelling drive to succeed, the people of Woodward willingly go the proverbial "second mile." Perhaps Winston Churchill best verbalized the attitude at Woodward when he described a winner as someone who "never, never, never, never gave up." That kind of thinking is what has made Woodward the top-notch college preparatory school that it is today; that kind of thinking will keep it that way.

SENSATIONAL SUCCESS

... Winning ... The Woodward Way ...

"Success," the special ideal on which our institution is built, describes Woodward well. The Academy's eighty-one years of successful operation is a result of high expectations combined with considerable hard work. For that reason, Woodward is noted for its achievement in the areas of academics, athletics and fine arts.

Academically, Woodward has proved its high standards. The fact that ninety-nine per cent of Woodward graduates attend college and that our students consistently perform above the national average on exams such as the NEDT and the SAT, attest to the overall excellence of faculty members, the student body and the curriculum.

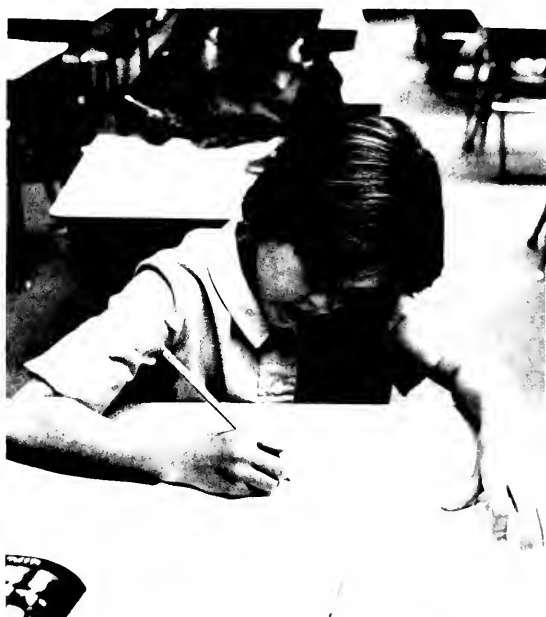

Not only excellent in academics, Woodward also exhibits a high degree of achievement in its athletic programs as well.

The Academy enjoys a statewide reputation as having excellent football, wrestling, swimming and tennis teams.

Recently begun on a large scale basis, Woodward's fine arts program has quickly risen to the same high standard of excellence found in the academic and athletic programs. Participants in the Academy's Festival Chorale, the drama division, dance and visual arts programs, are regularly commended for their high degree of expertise and talent.

Although other "successful" schools do exist, few, if any, can point to the overall degree of excellence evident in virtually every level of operation at Woodward Academy. In short, because of its winning ways, "Woodward" and "success" are two words which in effect are synonymous.

Academics

Dr. Gary M. Jones

PRESIDENT

Maintaining The Tradition Of Leadership

Arriving at W.A. in 1978, Dr. Gary M. Jones has been president of Woodward for the past three years. With the appointment of Mr. Don Woolf as Headmaster, Dr. Jones is now able to place a greater emphasis on alumni relations, development, and public relations. Dr. Jones believes that these areas are essential to Woodward Academy because the future of all private institutions will depend on how successfully the school is at obtaining support from the outside community.

The quality of the education received at a school determines the quality of the school as a whole, and Dr. Jones has worked to ensure that a Woodward education is of the finest quality. He feels that the individual should be exposed to as much of what lies ahead in the academic world as is possible and that a student should be challenged to understand the difference between the shoddy and quality aspects of the world. Dr. Gary Jones strives to make every phase of Woodward first rate, and in this way, gives every student the best education possible.

Ensuring Excellence In The Academy

Newly appointed Vice President of Curriculum and Headmaster, Don A. Woolf exemplifies the characteristics of the ideal administrator. Having come to Woodward Academy in 1963, Mr. Woolf has served in many areas of Woodward life as assistant principal of the Lower School, founding principal of the Busey School, principal of the Lower School, dormitory parent, and now in his present role of Headmaster. His new duties include regulating the curriculum, academic instruction, personnel, and extra-curricular activities of all four schools. Mr. Woolf will surely make the positive impact in these areas that he has made in his past positions.

Mr. Woolf has a distinct idea of what a good education should be. He feels the well-educated person must have a good balance of academics, athletics, and social skills and be able to get along with people. Expertise in just one of these areas is not enough for the person planning to go to college. The student must be prepared mentally, physically, and socially to be successful in college as well as to be successful in life.

With leaders such as Mr. Woolf at the Academy, Woodward is sure to fulfill its goal of achieving excellence in all areas.

The Administration of Woodward Academy, under the direction of Dr. Gary M. Jones, is responsible for all academic, athletic, and financial activities on the Woodward campus. Each administrator is responsible for a certain facet of the total operation of the school.

During the 1980-81 school year, several changes were made in the administrative staff which were of major importance to faculty and students. Mr. Don A. Woolf, who had served at the Lower and Busey Schools since 1963, became the new Headmaster, and now assists Dr. Jones in the areas of academic instruction, personnel, and extra curricular activities. Mr. Alvin G. Wendt replaced Mr. Woolf as Principal of the Lower School, and Mr. David Chandler was added to the staff as Assistant Principal of the Lower School. Also new on the administrative staff was Mr. Russell Logan Slider. A 1975 graduate of Woodward, Mr. Slider began work in June as the school's Alumni Director. He also supervises Academy publications, and is advisor to the yearbook staff. Other changes in the administration were the appointment of Mr. Paul Stockhammer to Admissions Director and Mr. Ira Sanderson as the new Director of Development.

Together, the sixteen members of the Academy's administrative staff work to insure smooth and effective operation of the school. Always available to assist students, parents, and faculty, they are a valuable asset to the institution, and provide important leadership qualities.

Staff

The secretaries and staff of Woodward Academy are an integral part of the school's operation. Always friendly and cooperative, they maintain offices, answer phones, type, keep financial matters straight and, in general, make the lives of students, faculty, administrators, and parents considerably easier. In the Lower and Busey Schools, members of the staff not only act as office personnel but are also fill-in parent, nurse, and advisor to students. The staff in the Upper and Middle Schools also assist students in daily details which must be performed. New to the staff in 1980, was Mrs. Christine Stephens. She assists Dean Krueger and Dean Bell with discipline and attendance records for each Upper School student. Other changes in the staff included the appointments of Mrs. June Geiger as Admissions Secretary and Mrs. Shirley Hanline as Development Secretary.

In great part, the success of the 1980-81 academic year was due to the dedicated and efficient work of the Woodward Academy Staff. The Phoenix wishes to express appreciation to these hard working members of the Woodward community, whose work is often not officially recognized.

English

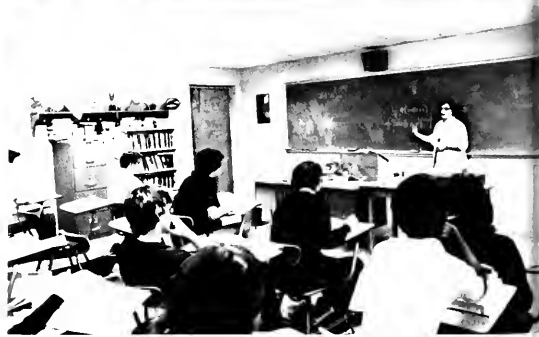

According to Mrs. Bobby Alford, curriculum coordinator, the aim of the English Department at Woodward Academy is to give the student a mastery of communication skills. Proficiency in these skills is developed through a correlated study of language, literature, and composition. Particularly unique to Woodward's English Department is its emphasis on composition. Writing skills, often not taught in high school, are necessary to the success of individuals on the college level. The student who develops a good use of language and an appreciation and understanding of the great literature of the world should be able to meet the demands of both the college curriculum and the business world.

The ultimate goal of the Language Program of the Lower School is to ensure that each student reaches his optimum level of proficiency in three main areas: reading, English, and composition. Formal English instruction is begun in the third grade. Prior to that time, emphasis is placed on oral communication. The English Language Arts Program of the Middle School is designed primarily to review and refine basic skills in grammar usage and to develop competency in writing effective sentences and unified, coherent expository paragraphs, based on the literature studied. English is taught on the regular and honors levels in the seventh and eighth grades with special classes for the student with particular learning disabilities. The Upper School English Program is designed to develop in students a mastery of communication skills and to emphasize competency in reading and critical thought. Curriculum for the ninth through the eleventh grades is "locked-in", but in the twelfth grade, students are given some elective choices. Seniors must take one quarter of grammar and vocabulary review and two quarters of literature. Four years of English are required for graduation.

Mathematics

Mrs. Mary Walker is the curriculum coordinator for the Academy's math department. The primary goal of the mathematics faculty is to prepare students to such a high degree that they will be successful in college level math courses. Other areas of emphasis include maximizing each student's potential, and keeping the curriculum updated by consistently reviewing new texts and college course offerings. In teaching math, the faculty feels it essential to relate the subject matter to the world around the student. In this basic context, the student can better appreciate the significance of mathematics in his life.

On the Lower School level, students in grades one through three are evaluated on achievement of specific basic skills such as counting, knowledge of number systems, and the four basic principles of arithmetic. In the fourth through sixth grades, addition, subtraction, division, and multiplication skills are refined and students begin to work with word problems. In the Middle School, math students are encouraged to develop analytic skills and to think through problems in logical sequence. The Middle School curriculum and teaching methods significantly increases the students performance in later courses. Upper School classes continue to develop the pupils mathematic ability with classes such as pre-algebra, Algebra I and II and geometry. For individuals who wish further study, Advanced Placement and Calculus are options made available to the more skilled math students.

Science

The Science Department at Woodward Academy is headed by Mr. Gus Dearolph. Like others in the department, Mr. Dearolph feels that scientific study enables a student to better understand the world around him, encourages development of investigative skills, and promotes rational thought. Undoubtedly, any student who applies himself in scientific study at the Academy will find himself better able to deal with the challenges and demands of life.

Students at the Academy begin the study of science in kindergarten and, up through ninth grade, are taught basic scientific concepts. The Lower School program involves investigation of phenomena that can be seen, smelled, touched, tasted, or heard. In the seventh and eighth grades, students are exposed to more abstract ideas such as the concepts of energy and atomic structure through actual experiments in the laboratory. While in the Upper School, all ninth grade students are required to take biology. Additionally, all students enrolled at Woodward Academy must take at least one more year of science after completion of biology. The department prides itself on the wide variety of offerings available to students. Some options include: chemistry, physics, astronomy, anatomy, and environmental science, which are available as one and two quarter electives, or as full year courses.

Social Studies

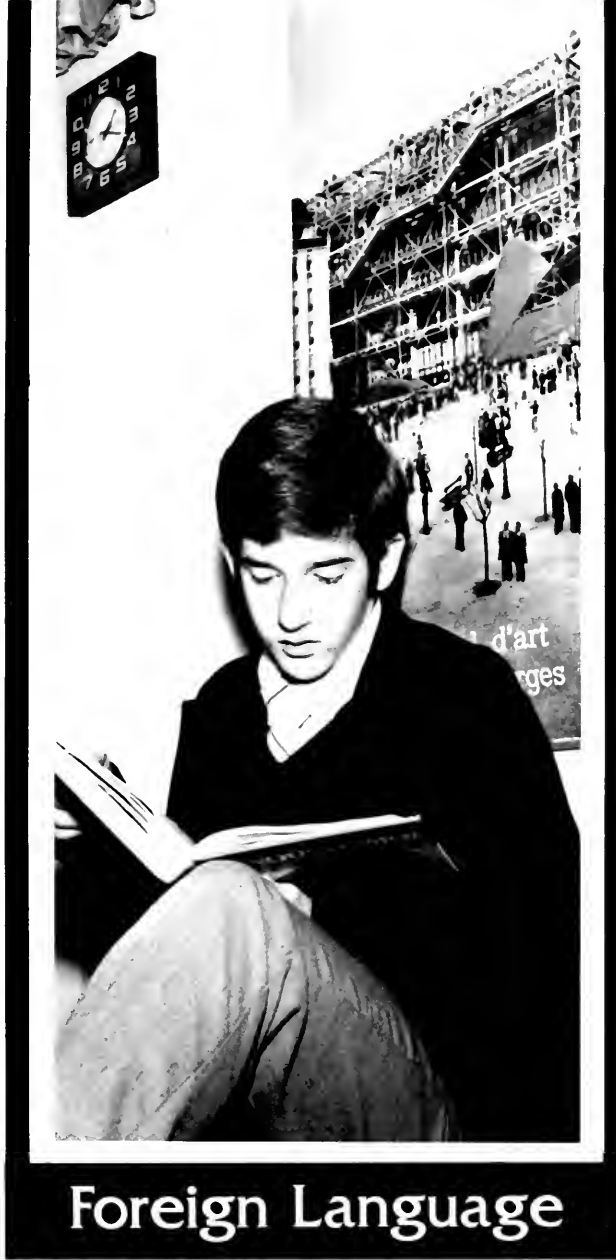

Mr. Bill Lineberry directs the Social Studies curriculum at the Academy. The primary goal of the department is to teach an appreciation of historical events and their impact on civilization. If students can grasp the implication of history on society, they will be better prepared to analyze and solve the problems of the future. Additionally, a knowledge of past events may prevent repeated mistakes. Expanding on the main goal, the social studies faculty develops the students ability to organise his thoughts and write coherently through the regular administering of essay type tests. Many classes require pupils to write term papers and outside reports. Encouraging good citizenship by overcoming apathy and ignorance is another departmental objective.

Social studies is begun in the Lower School. Students in the first through the third grades are taught about basic social concepts. Fourth through sixth graders learn more concrete ideas and are introduced briefly to American History. In the Middle School, geography is emphasized in addition to the study of Eastern cultures. Students in the Upper School Social studies program learn about political systems, Modern European History, and American History. Seniors may choose from a wide selection of electives including business law, economics, psychology, accounting, and European History. Presently, two years of social studies are required for graduation.

Foreign Language

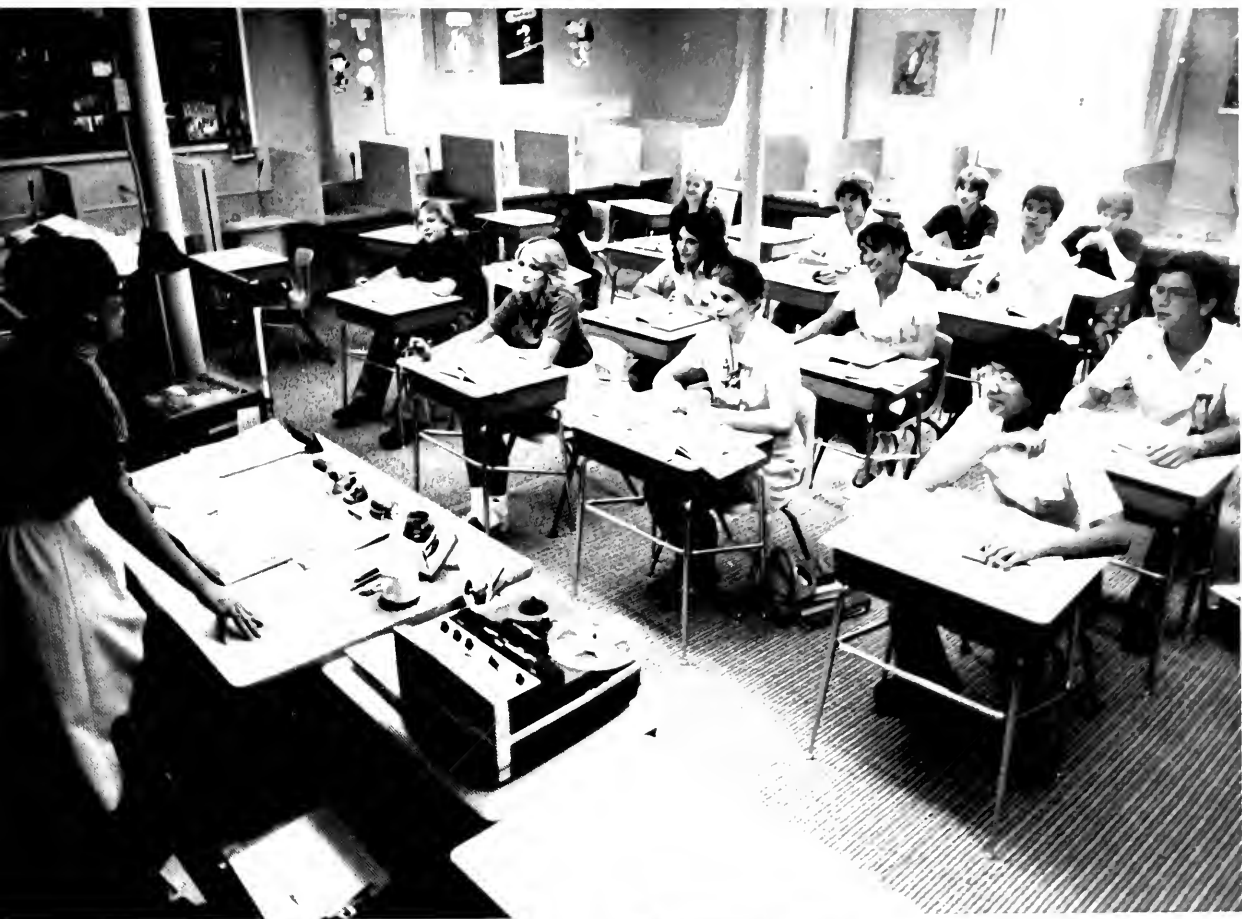

Department chairman, Jean Olstin, coordinates the curriculum for Woodward's Foreign Language Department. The Basic goal of the program is to teach students to communicate effectively in some other than their native language. Additionally, participants in the Foreign Language classes are taught, not only to accept other cultures, but to appreciate them as well.

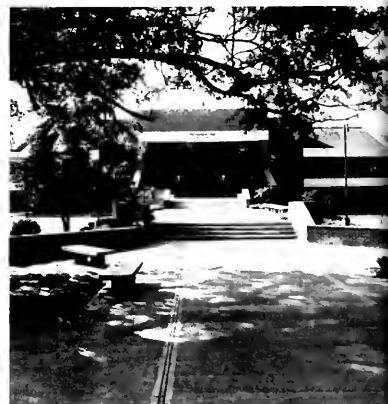

Beginning in the seventh grade, selected students are enrolled in Latin I and, after successfully completing the first year, are assigned to Latin II in their eighth grade year. In the Upper School, the Foreign Language Department offers students numerous options to complete the two year requirement for graduation. Possible choices include: Latin, French, Spanish, and German. After completing graduation requirements, many students continue their study by enrolling in third and fourth year French or Spanish.

Special programs exist for outstanding students in French and Spanish. Mrs. Bunny Renkin sponsors the French Honor Society and Mrs. Jill Nunez-Mason advises the Spanish Honor Society. In order to be a member of either club, a student must display exceptional language proficiency and be enrolled in upper level courses.

Fine Arts

Meeting the needs of every individual is the aim of Woodward Academy's Fine Arts Department, which specializes in the visual and performing arts. Coordinated by Mr. Mike Heck, the faculty assesses the needs of the student, and makes every attempt to prepare the student to enter college-level visual or performing arts department of any university, conservatory, or Art School of his choice.

Featuring choral and instrumental music, the Music Department offers courses in General Music, Choral Music, Theory, Orchestration, and Band. Students may also participate in several choruses, including the Festival Singers, Festival Chorale, Derby Choir, Treble Chorus, and General Choruses. The Music Department also offers many bands including Beginning Band, Intermediate Band, a Dance Band, and the Robert W. Woodruff Marching and Concert Band. Advanced Placement Music is also offered.

The Drama Department not only instructs in the area of acting, but also instructs students in the history of drama, the study of outstanding dramas, and the building and designing of sets.

The Dance Department offers courses in ballet and modern dance. Classes exist for students in elementary school through Middle and Upper School and are for different levels of experience.

The Final division within the Fine Arts Programs is the Visual Arts Department. This department offers general courses including the Elements and Principles of Design, Studio Exploration, Art Appreciation, Planar Organization, Spatial Organization, and Perception of Color and Light. Students may also take classes in Painting, Print-Making, Ceramics, Sculpture, Photography, Film-Making, Fabric Design, Set Design, Costume Design, and Art History.

Physical Education

The purpose of Woodward Academy's physical education department is to instruct the student in movement and physical fitness. Curriculum coordinator for the department, Mr. Johnny O. Stallings, works with the coaches and the principals of the four schools to plan athletic activities that will best benefit students in their physical maturation. Students take physical education classes in the Lower, Busey, and Middle school as part of their required curriculum. In the Upper School, two years of physical education is required. The Lower and Busey Schools physical education program consists of games which teach the students basic physical skills, as well as develop their coordination and strength. Activities in the Middle School consist of more organized sports, such as softball, basketball, soccer, and track. The Upper School students who take classes in physical education compete in similar activities, and occasionally challenge coaches and faculty members to a game of softball or basketball. Students in the Upper School who participate in an after-school intramural or interscholastic sport may exempt their P.E. requirement during the quarter in which they participate in the extra-curricular sports. Students in the Upper, Middle, and Lower Schools are also involved in swimming activities in the Kennedy Pool. In all four schools, the physical education program is emphasized as an integral part of the curriculum to develop students who are prepared physically as well as mentally.

Media

The Media Department at Woodward is a combination of two distinct areas: the Library Division and the Television Studio. Both facilities are impressive and have as a basic goal to be student-oriented in their operation.

The Middle and Upper School Library is located in McKay Hall and contains some 18,000 volumes. In 1977, the facility was renovated and enlarged and now includes conference rooms, reading areas, study carrels, and seating space for two hundred forty students. Head Librarian Joanne Heath, assistant Sara Crockawell, and clerk Shirley Satterfield strive to assist students with needed information in an atmosphere conducive to learning. In addition to the McKay Library, Woodward also maintains libraries at the Lower and Busey Schools where elementary students are taught the basics of reference work and encouraged to develop good reading skills.

Perhaps one of the most unique aspects about Woodward is the existence of the closed circuit television station. Coordinated by Ms. Suzanne Greer, WATV has studios in the Richardson Fine Arts Center. Aside from taping of T.V. specials, the WATV crew also produces three weekly homeroom shows. Writing scripts, operating cameras, and directing are some of the skills developed by student workers. Communications and technical methodology are several of the courses

Interact

Interact, one of Woodward's three service clubs, was very active throughout the year. At the beginning of school, Interact members helped the Junior Civitan Club collect money for retarded citizens on Yellow Ribbon Day. As in the past, Interact Club sponsored two blood drives. The projects this year were conducted in the Fall and Spring. Other activities in which members participated during the 1980-81 year included walking in the Scottish Rite Hospital Walk-a-thon, collecting canned goods for the Hunger Task Force, and helping PAL with Woodward's annual Christmas party for orphans. Interact also promoted a new project this year. The Cash for Trash contest, conducted during Winter Quarter, encouraged students to keep the campus clean.

Interact often invited distinguished guests to their meetings. This year speakers included Monica Kaufman a WSB TV anchor woman and Craig Ashwood from WQXI. FM radio.

Contributing to Interact's successful year were President, Maria Meade; Vice-President, Marya Nuss; Secretary, Ann Timmons; Treasurer, Lynn Finley; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Frank Gomez. Mr. Lee Vincent acted as faculty advisor to the Interact Club during the 1980-81 year.

Key Club

The Key Club, Woodward's largest service club, was very active during the 1980-81 year. The club's first project included helping the Junior Civitas Club collect money on Yellow Ribbon Day. On Homecoming and at Halloween, the Key Club members participated in their largest project. They collected over fourteen hundred dollars for the UNICEF drive. During the Thanksgiving season, the Key Club collected food and donated 210 cans of food to the needy. Also during November, the Key Club members ran the Kiwanis Club Youth Bowl Championship at College Park High School. During Christmas the Key Club donated presents to the orphans at a Montego Bay orphanage. In February, the Key Club conducted its biggest project, the Miss Woodward Talent Pageant. At the end of the 1980-81 school year, the Key Club made its annual trip to Daytona Beach, Florida.

The Key Club owes much of their successful year to the advising of Mr. Tim McKane. Officers for the Key Club included President, Greg Carlson; Vice Presidents, Starr Barron and Thomas Cooper; Secretary, Holle Finley; Treasurer, Charles Pyke; Chaplain, Charlie McNash; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Prestor Delashmit.

Junior Civitan

The Woodward Academy Junior Civitan Club, sponsored by Miss Peggy Dyer, had a successful 1980-81 year. As one of Woodward's three service clubs, the group excelled in collecting money for retarded citizens on Yellow Ribbon Day. At Christmas time they went carolling at the Christian City Nursing Home and collected for the annual Empty Stocking Fund. Other activities included walking in the Scottish Rite Hospital's Walk-a-thon, and holding a Bowl-a-Thon to raise money for the annual Sno-Do. In the Spring, the Junior Civitan Club members raised money by selling donuts. Completing their successful year, the Junior Civitan members took their annual trip to the National Convention at Panama City, Florida. Leadership for the 1980-81 school year included President, Donna Jones; Vice-President, Angela Layton; Secretary, Pam Hill; Treasurer, Darlene Lee; and Chaplain, Diana Sutherland.

F.C.A.

One of the unique clubs at Woodward is the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. The FCA held bi-monthly meetings throughout the year to which they invited special guest speakers. Programs this year included Greg Brezina, a former Atlanta Falcon football player, and Rev. Ron McCollum, Chaplain and Counselor for Woodward Academy. Besides their regular meetings, F.C.A. sponsored some special activities throughout the year. The members hosted their annual covered dish supper after the inter-squad competition for basketball, swimming and wrestling. The members of the team, their parents, and F.C.A. members were invited. At Christmas time, the group sponsored a luncheon for Woodward Academy coaches, and on Valentine's Day, the members held their annual luncheon to which the Administrative Staff of the Academy was invited. During February, the F.C.A. hosted the 4AAA basketball tournament. For the first time, the F.C.A. produced a play, TV Ten Commandments and presented it in April.

The sponsor for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes was athletic director Petty Ezell. The officers of the group were Jeff Soracco, President; Ann Timmons, Vice President; and Steve Humphrey, Secretary-Treasurer.

Being a member of the Spanish Honor Society is an achievement many Woodward students have earned. According to the society's sponsor, Mrs. Jill Nunez-Mason, students must have had an overall C+ average, a B or better average in Spanish, have an outstanding conduct record in order to be selected for membership. Chosen students participated in a formal initiation that included the lighting of candles and the repeating of an oath. Throughout the year, the Spanish Honor Society participated in activities such as hearing guest speakers and dining in Spanish restaurants. The society also held an annual Christmas party at which a Pinata and other Spanish related gifts were raffled off. Refreshments were also served.

Officers for the club included President, Paul Raines; Vice President, Lynn Finley; Secretary-Treasurer, Bill Lambert; and Chaplain Patricia Saker.

According to Starr Barron, "It's an honor to be a member of a club, the caliber of the Spanish Honor Society." Their participation was outstanding this year.

Students with an A or B average who are enrolled in upper level French courses, third year and above, may be selected to become members of the French Honor Society. Activities for the Society include eating at French restaurants and visiting French bakeries. The French Honor Society also enjoys conversing in French and learning about french customs of the past and modern day practices. Members of the Society appreciate the opportunity that they have to learn about and understand another culture.

The Woodward debate program's extensive recruiting four years ago culminated this year. The team, led by senior members, Marc Bessho, Paul Raines and Rex Reeves, reached heights never before achieved by a Woodward Academy Debate Team. The members fought to a region championship and placed in the State. Outstanding affirmative debater for the team was Paul Raines, while outstanding negative debaters were Marc Bessho and Rex Reeves.

Besides being outstanding debaters the team members were also successful in individual events. Rex Reeves captured several championships in extemporaneous speaking while Bessho, Raines, and Frank Gomez placed in the same competition. Warren Smith excelled in original oratory.

Under the knowledgeable guidance of Mrs. Cleo Hudson, this year's debate group matched the record of Woodward Academy's championship team of 1969.

"I think this group of men has demonstrated the kind of spirit and dedication necessary to win a region championship," said Mrs. Hudson.

In the 1980-81 school year, a new group was formed at Woodward Academy. The Math Team, sponsored by faculty member Mr. Paul Meyers, brought eager and talented students together to sharpen their skills in a wide range of mathematically related areas. Also, the students were involved in mathematics tournaments that tested their skills against those of students from other schools. Led by senior members Marc Bessho, Jerry Finegan, Lynn Finley, Frank Gomez, Charmaine Griffin, Marya Nuss, Paul Raines, and Rex Reeves, the Math Team had a highly successful first year's record. Team members, divided into varsity and junior varsity divisions, competed in a wide range of subjects such as algebra, calculus, trigonometry, probability and geometry.

The purpose of the Student Government Association is to represent the student body and to present their ideas to the Woodward administration. The SGA, by submitting bills to the administration, is a way through which students voice their opinions. The legislation of the student government association this year included bills working toward greater Senior privileges, the suggesting of possible uniform changes, attempting to make Gold and Silver Eagle awards cumulative and trying to boost school spirit. Members of the S.G.A. also worked with the Parents Club as part of the standing committees. Together, the two groups reviewed various aspects of Woodward life in order to suggest needed improvements.

The Student Government Association also participated in numerous activities during the 1980-81 school year. Besides enacting legislation, members also participated in collecting money during Yellow Ribbon Day, helping PAL with its Christmas activities, and holding an exchange program with members of SGA at Arlington School.

The purpose of the Honor Council is to give Woodward students the opportunity to be judged by their peers. Because they are students themselves, the Honor Council understands the pressures and problems of students and is able to deal fairly yet firmly with cases brought before the council. The Honor Council deals with cases of cheating, lying, stealing, and vandalism and may impose punishments of demerits and detentions or recommend dismissal to the administration.

The 12th grade representatives were Marya Nuss, Paul Raines, Mike Scarboro, and Howard Delashmit. Grade eleven representatives were, Tommy Holt and Diane Dickman. Grade ten representatives were Laura Harris, Jody Rohl and Beth Ruppensburg. The 9th grade representative was Matt McGuire. Missy Sanchez was the sponsor and officers were, President, Billy Jones and Secretary, Beth Hale.

PAL, the Peer Advisory League, was composed of involved, respectable Woodward students chosen by a special committee of Woodward students and teachers. Their most important project of the year was helping new students adjust to their new role as part of the Woodward community. At registration, the PAL members helped new students register and showed them around the campus. At Christmas time, the PAL and SGA members decorated the Student Lounge and took part in the annual Christmas party in honor of Woodward faculty, staff, and their families. Also during Christmas, members sung Christmas carols and presented gifts to the residents of the College Park Convalescent Home. Other activities for the year included visiting the nursing home again, helping the service clubs raise money for various organizations, and assisting the wrestling team raise money for a hospitalized wrestler.

The President of PAL during the 1980-81 year was Al Rossi. Class representatives were Jennifer Sheetz, 9th grade; Pam Hill, 10th grade; and Darlene Lee, 11th grade.

To be a member of Woodward Academy's Chapter, the Randolph W. Thrower Chapter, of the National Honor Society a student must not only have a grade point average of 3.5, but must be involved in many aspects of Woodward life. Before members are inducted, they are evaluated on their qualities of scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The 1980-81 induction took place at the annual National Honor Society Convocation held in the Gresham Chapel. There, all students in grades nine through twelve gathered to observe the ceremony and listened to faculty and staff members lecture on the four principles upon which society is based.

Officers for this year included Howard Delashmit, President; Meg Autry, Vice-President; Maria Meade, Treasurer; And Marya Nuss, Secretary. Acting as advisor to the National Honor Society was Academic Dean, Mr. Roger Sloan. Mr. Sloan has aided the society in its functions in the past and will continue to do so. Their activities included the annual convocation and various meetings held throughout the year.

Phoenix

This year's annual staff worked hard throughout the year to produce the 1981 Phoenix. In order to meet deadlines staff members not only worked during class time but also after school and on week-ends so that they could meet production deadlines.

Contributing greatly to the book was Mr. Rusty Slider, the new Advisor for the Phoenix. His creative influence insured that the 1981 Phoenix was a success. Also, the editorial staff, composed of Don Allen, Editor, Lila Strother, Assistant Editor, Mike Turner, Layout Editor, and Beth Hale, Copy Editor, worked to make the 1981 Phoenix an outstanding publication.

Some of the memorable phrases of the yearbook staff included: passion, pretzels, midnight vigils, rolling the room, Dunkin Donuts, Don's AC/DC tape, the Ice Cream and Cake Place, That Week, 2nd quarter grades, Mike's attitude, Super-duper, Dean Slider, Beth's lemon squares, mummy, It's your responsibility, I need a Fanta, sub it on the proofs, What is Don doing now?, Blatent vandalism, shagging in the night, clean up time, Is Don our interior decorator?, Lila's ability to tell even from odd, I gotta tend to my horse, Thought for the day, I luv beach music, FINAL DEADLINE It's a celebration!

The Woodward Academy Blade is a bi-monthly newspaper written by Woodward students for the Academy community. This year, a new approach was applied to producing the newspaper. A smaller staff insured that each member would understand how to produce a newspaper as well as all the work involved. Each staff member worked harder and had more responsibility than in previous years. Also, new layout designs were introduced this year. Besides producing the newspaper, the Blade staff studied general journalistic style during their class 6th period.

Festival Chorale

For Woodward students interested in choral music, being a member of the Festival Chorale is the highest achievement they can attain. Through voice tests, Mr. Alan McClung, Director of the Chorale, chooses Upper School students who possess exceptional ability in the vocal area.

This year's Festival Chorale continued the tradition of excellence established in past years. In the Fall, they performed a back-up with the pops singer Barry Manilow on stage at the Omni. Also in the Fall, the chorale performed a concert with the composer Jean Berger. At Christmas time, the chorale held the third annual Madrigal dinner, an authentic medieval feast, in order to raise money for their summer concert tour. In the Spring, chorale members performed in the District V Choral Festival, and, as in the past, received a superior rating. The annual Spring Concert was another of the chorale's many activities. The hard work of chorale members throughout the year however, was directed at very unique goal: a summer concert in Europe. In June, chorale members travelled in Belgium, Holland, Germany, and France to present concerts in those countries. The 1980-81 success of the chorale was due in part to its officers: President, Len Savini; Vice-President, Burnie Berry; Secretary, Pam Wilson; and Deanna Nichols. These officers along with Kenneth Walker, Jipaum Askew, Martha Woodward, and Wiley Cain made up the chorale council which helps direct activities of the group.

The Derby Choir, directed by Mr. Alan McClung, is composed of Upper School students interested in choral music. With aspirations toward being in the Festival Chorale, members of the Derby Choir worked hard throughout the year to perfect their musical abilities. Besides enhancing their skills, the Derby Choir also performed in many concerts throughout the year. In the Fall, they worked to perfect their pieces for the annual Winter Concert. After performing the concert, the Derby Choir began working on their part in the annual Spring Concert. The members of the choir wrote their own one-act musical and performed it during the Spring of 1981.

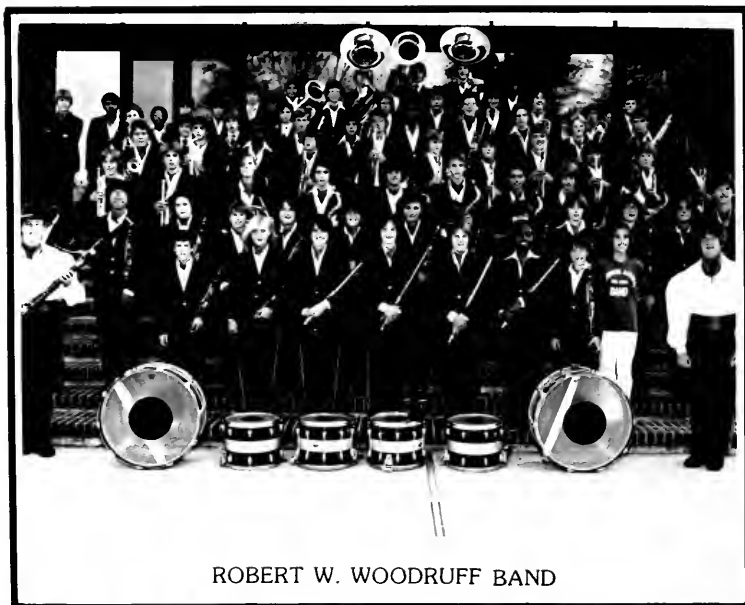

Derby Choir

Band

Interested students at Woodward Academy have the opportunity to participate in the Symphonic, Jazz, and Robert W. Woodruff Marching Bands. These three bands worked together and separately throughout the 1981 school year to perfect their performances and raise money for their various activities.

Fund raising activities for this year included selling carnations at Homecoming and sponsoring the annual Happy Days Hop in February. The band's performances this year included participating in football halftime shows, playing at pep rallies, and competing in the Cetinial Band Festival in Douglasville, Georgia. Additionally, the Band played in the Annual Spring Concert and at the 1981 graduation exercises. In the Spring of the year, the band members played in the Thomasville Rose Festival and then traveled to Disneyworld.

The success of the band was in part due to their hard-working officers: Jimmy Nunn, Captain; Jerry Finegan, Field Commander; Brad Martin, Lieutenant Field Commander; Bernie Berry, First Lieutenant; James Kelly, Second Lieutenant; Edgar Ulloa, Sergeant Major; Mike McBrayer, Command Sergeant; Carol McGee, Master Sergeant; John McGaughey, First Sergeant; and Jennifer Kwech, Staff Sergeant. The band, during the 1980-81 season, was under the able directorship of Mr. Ron Rodman.

Our Town

Woodward Academy opened their theatre season with Thornton Wilder's American classic Our Town. This play won the Pulitzer Prize in 1938 and features a unique staging with an almost bare stage to emphasize its message that simple, everyday things in life are what really matter. The main role is that of the "Stage Manager," who is a sort of narrator and related the bits of action directly to the audience. The massive and challenging role of the stage manager was effectively played by Jeff Stepakoff. Other actors with major roles were: Janita Poe, Robin Porter, Chris Uberto, Mark Barron, Ria Smith, and Todd Shaw.

Mr. Mike Heck directed the cast of more than 40 students in this highly successful production. Lighting and technical direction was supervised by Woodward Academy senior David Hicks. The success of the play drew large crowds each night. After all the long and dedicated practices, cast members were rewarded with experiences that they may benefit from in the future.

The Woodward Academy Fine Arts department's second production of the year was The Effects of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds. The success of Paul Zindel's play was due to the hard work of the director, Mr. Mike Heck, and a small but brilliant cast. Missy Brantley played the part of Tillie, and it is through her eyes that the audience viewed the story. Martha Woodward played the role of Beatrice and represented the personality of a psychotic getting rapidly worse as the play proceeded. Also in the cast were Anne Morgan who played Ruth, Maria Luke who portrayed Nanny, and Melody Watts who acted out the role of Janice.

The excellent acting of the cast and the exceptional work of the production crew insured the success of the staging of Marigolds.

After the two performances at Woodward, the cast entered the Region AAA play contest and won second place honors in the competition.

Although this production was Missy Brantley's first chance at the stage, she displayed outstanding talent and comprehension of her role.

Marigolds

Bye, Bye Birdie

On March 26, 27, and 28, the Fine Arts department presented the musical Bye, Bye, Birdie. Birdie is a satirical and funny look at the rock and roll world of 1960. The Musical revolves around the chaos that is created when an "Elvis Presley" type rock idol named Conrad Birdie is drafted into the army. Playing the leads in this production were: David King as Birdie's manager, Albert Peterson; Martha Woodward as his secretary/fiancee, Rose Alvarez; and David Lowry as Birdie. Playing other key roles were: Gordon Scott, Virginia Shapard, Leanne Koon, George Carley, Janita Poe, and Lisa Frost.

The production was directed by Mr. Heck. Musical direction was by Mr. Ron Rodman, and choral supervision was by Mr. Alan McClung. More than 55 students from the Upper, Middle, and Lower Schools were involved with the production of Bye, Bye, Birdie.

Dance

Talented dancers at Woodward Academy have the opportunity to become members of the Woodward Dance Ensemble. Other students who are still working on perfecting their abilities may work as apprentices to the company.

The major project of the Woodward Dance Ensemble was their Spring Dance Concert held on April 23, 1981. Throughout the 1980-81 school year, the members practiced to perfect their skills and produce routines for the concert. Other activities included participating in school and community activities, exhibitions, and workshops. Also during the year, the Dance Ensemble invited guest teachers to work with the group. Participating in the guest teacher program were: Hal Linter who conducted a folk dance workshop, Lali Bail who held a ballet session, and Mari Kajawara who conducted a modern dance class.

Several dedicated and experienced members of the dance group served as officers. Those students leading the group were: Beth Brown, President; Jeff Johnson, Vice President; Patricia Saker, Secretary; and Glynis Elliot, Treasurer. The Dance Ensemble's faculty sponsor was Ms. Milne Bail.

W.A.T.V.

Under the new coordinator, Ms. Suzanne Greer, the Woodward Academy T.V. crew developed a successful program of television journalism. Crew members began working during the summer by checking equipment and making repairs in preparation for the beginning of the 1980-81 school year. From September through June, the crew's main responsibility was the production of home-room shows for the Upper and Lower Schools. Additionally, the WATV crew also made special presentations such as the interviews of SGA and service club officers.

The crew was aided by the addition of several new pieces of equipment such as the two JVC cameras. With the new equipment, the students were able to improve the quality of WATV productions.

Football

Jonesboro 21-0

During this exciting season opener, WA gained its first win with a 21-0 victory over Jonesboro. Bryan Turner scored WA's first touchdown with a 18 yard pass from Bill Archer. Woodward ended the game with 344 yards total offense. The first offensive drive of WA ate ten minutes off the clock. When Jonesboro finally got the ball, the great Woodward defense shut out all of Jonesboro offensive drives.

Marist 14-20

Throughout the whole game, Woodward led the Marist War Eagles, and going into the fourth quarter, WA had a 14-7 lead. Costly fumbles at crucial times ruined a Woodward victory. The Final score was 14-20, Marist.

Westminster 17-2

In the third game, against Westminster, Howard Delashmit stole the show with two 1 yard touchdown runs to conclude two 61 and 63 yard drives of WA. Mike Chance was another familiar face in this game as he led the rushers with 94 yards. Charlie McNash put the icing on the cake with a 31 yard field goal to make the final score 17-0.

Heritage 23-0

The Woodward Academy War Eagles went for its third victory in the fourth regular season game against Heritage and came out on top with a final score of 23-0. During the first half of the game, Woodward's score was restricted to a fieldgoal by Charlie McNash. However, the second half proved very successful for the War Eagles as both Bill Archer and Mike Chance rushed for Woodward Academy touchdowns. Charlie McNash ended the game with a 27 yard fieldgoal.

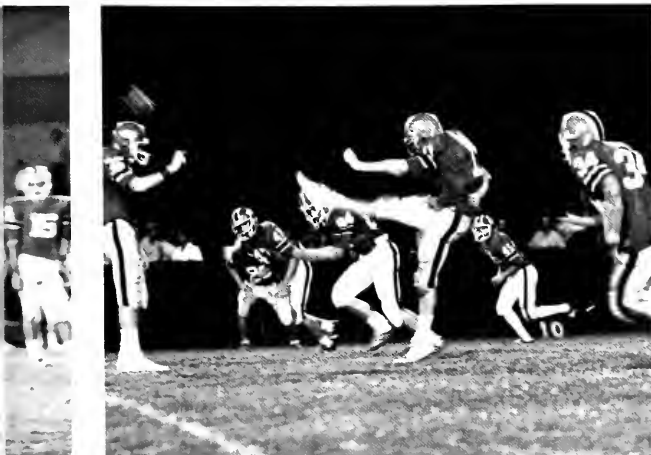

Rockdale 10-7

After a totally defensive game, the War Eagles were able to chalk up another Woodward Academy victory against Rockdale County. Tremendous defensive accomplishments by Howard Delashmit and Jerome Rossetti restricted Rockdale County to only one touchdown. Another crucial turning point late in the fourth quarter was an awesome sack by Gerald Browner which prevented a Bulldog score. Scoring for Woodward Academy were Mike Chance with a 1-yard run and Charlie McNash with a 37-yard fieldgoal.

Walter F. George 31-0

Both the offense and defense proved outstanding during the sixth regular season game against the Walter F. George Falcons. Woodward Academy amassed 268 total yards with four touchdown runs by Bill Archer, Duane Carter, and John Pemberton. Adding to the Woodward Academy offensive attack was a fieldgoal made by Charlie McNash. The Woodward defense limited the Falcon offense to only 114 yards.

Harris 47-6

On October 17th, the War Eagles played against Harris County in their first sub-region game. Unlike other War Eagle victories, this contest was not very exciting. As Coach Hixon commented after the game, "We dressed out 35 players and played them all." On the defensive side of the game, John Bazemore, Thomas Cooper, Howard Delashmit and Jerome Rossetti all played outstandingly which limited Harris County to only six points. Offensively, Duane Carter, Mike Chance, Roger McFarlin, and Bill Archer each ran for one touchdown. Leading scorer was Geoffrey Rhue who ran for two touchdowns. Adding to the score was Jim Olsen who threw a touchdown pass to Bryan Turner. Last but not least, kickers Thomas Cooper and Charlie McNash added three and two points respectively.

Henry 49-0

By halftime in this totally offensive game, Woodward Academy led 21-0. Scoring in the first half were Bill Archer and Bryan Turner. In the second half, the flying War Eagles could not be stopped as John Pemberton, Tim Murry, Roger McFarlin and Jim Olsen all scored, making the total and final score 49-0. However, the awesome Woodward defense played as well, if not better than the offense, destroying every hope of a Warhawk score.

Troup 28-0

Coach Hixon expected a much harder contest than that which he received at Troup County. The 28-0 Woodward Academy victory could be called a complete shutout.

Scoring that night were Bill Archer, Duane Carter, and John Pemberton. Not much can be said about this lopsided Woodward Academy victory except that it provided a vacation for the Eagles.

M.D. Collins 26-11

In the first quarter of play, Woodward Academy started the game off right when quarterback, Bill Archer, scored on a four-yard run. The extra point, attempted by Charlie McNash, however, was missed. Duane Carter scored during the second quarter on a three yard run. Afterwards, a two point play was tried, but the attempt failed. At that time the score stood 12-0. Bill Archer scored in the next quarter on a one yard run, and the extra point was good. Meanwhile, M.D. Collins had kicked a fieldgoal to make the score 19-3. In the last quarter of play, Howard Delashmit scored on a one yard run. The final score was 26-11. Overall, Woodward Academy had 300 yards rushing. Defensively, the Collins running game was completely stopped, but they gained over 200 yards passing.

Walker 24-22

Unlike the last Woodward Academy victory, the game against Walker was very exciting. On the War Eagles' first scoring drive, quarterback Bill Archer marched 67 yards downfield, and Howard Delashmit ended the drive with a 1-yard touchdown run. The next score of Woodward Academy resulted from a costly mistake made by Walker. Micheal Bebee, Walker's quarterback, fumbled in Walker territory, and Thomas Cooper ran the ball in for another War Eagle score. Walker reduced the Woodward lead on their next drive, and a costly fumble in Woodward territory set up another Warhawk score. With the last score, the game was tied up. However, before the half was over, Charlie McNash kicked a fieldgoal to make the score 17-14. Woodward Academy's first drive was rewarded with another touchdown and extra point to set the score at 24-14. Walker did score another touchdown, but they were not able to defeat the War Birds, as Woodward Academy chalked up another victory. Besides the outstanding performances of the offense, the offensive line also contributed greatly. Specifically, Jeff Ramey, Tim Murray, and Joe Minor threw awesome blocks which, without a doubt, saved the offense. The final score in this close contest was 24-22, in favor of the War Eagles.

Lithonia 17-14

Woodward defeated Lithonia 17-14 to clinch the Region 4-AAA championship. Key turnovers and strong defense paired with strong rushing and passing games enabled the War Eagles to keep their State Championship hopes alive. Howard Delashmit, Tim Murray, and Bryan Turner had excellent games offensively. The foot of Charlie McNash proved to be a deciding factor in game as he kicked two extra points and a field goal. Defensive stars for the state bound War Eagles were Greg Carlson, Thomas Cooper, Bryan Turner, and Gerald Browner.

Crisp County 12-7

In the quarter final playoff game against the Crisp County Cougars, Woodward Academy again emerged victorious. The awesome War Eagle Defense proved to be the contributing factor to the Woodward Academy win. Though the Woodward offense made three costly fumbles, the Cougars were able to capitalize on only one of these mistakes. If not for the excellent play by the defensive front of John Bazemore, Thomas Cooper and Gerald Browner, this game would probably have ended all hopes of a State Championship. The winning touchdowns were made by Mike Chance, who ran in from the 5-yard line and John Pemberton, who also had an excellent run. With this victory, the War Eagles increased their winning streak to eleven consecutive games.

Early County 17-3

"They just beat the heck out of us," said Early County coach Sam Williams after Woodward's 17-3 stomping of the Bobcats. He was right; the War Eagles and their fans didn't travel 200 miles to taste defeat. Through awesome play by both the defensive and offensive teams, Woodward completed the semi-final portion of the playoffs and continued on to meet Marist for the State-Championship. The Bobcats actually hurt themselves as quarterback Trey Woolf threw six interceptions with two of these landing in the hands of Bryan Turner. John Pemberton ran 20 times for 78 yards to lead Woodward's 213 offensive total. Bill Archer ran eight times for 57 yards. The first touchdown for Woodward came with 9:09 left in the third quarter when Pemberton took the ball into the endzone after a 31-yard carry. Charlie McNash added the first of two PAT's.

On the next series, McNash kicked a 32-yard field goal after an interception by Freddie Blackmon. With 8:22 left in the fourth quarter, Archer completed a 7-yard touchdown pass to Bryan Turner. Woodward had 152 yards rushing and Archer was 4 of 7 passing for another 62 yards.

Marist 14-10

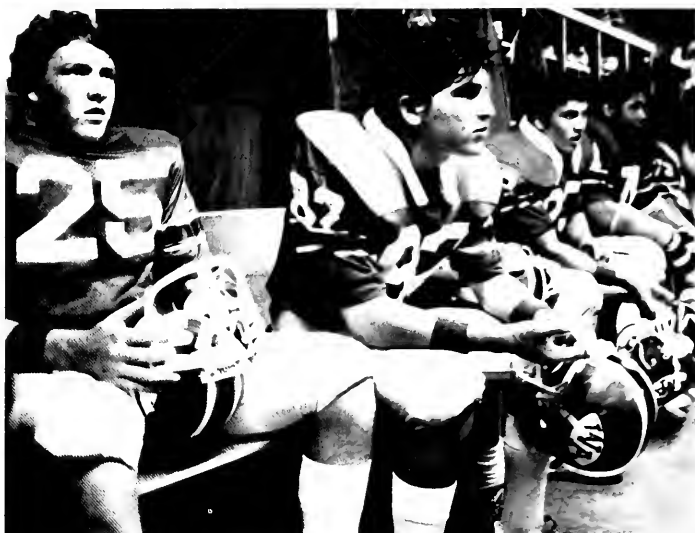

Unlucky breaks at the start of this class AAA state football championship game were to blame for Marists 10-0 lead late in the first half.

During the third quarter, Woodward Academy had taken the lead, and Marist was given possession of the football.

With possession, Marist drove to the Woodward 3 and gained a first and goal. At this point, the Marist War Eagles moved the ball to the 1 yard line, but were not able to score. Woodward Academy took over at the 1 yard line at the start of the fourth quarter, but was unable to score.

One last possession of Marist was doomed when a Marist fumble was recovered by Greg Carlson. With 1:50 left to play, Marist knew the end was near. We did want it as much as they did!

Cheerleaders: Adding Spirit To Every Occasion!

With their cheers, kicks, stunts and run-throughs, the Varsity Cheerleaders provided spirit for the fans as well as the players during football and basketball seasons. Pep Rallies and spirit days organized by the Varsity squad were great successes. During the first weeks of December, the Cheerleaders planned special activities to raise the entire school's spirit for the State game against Marist. On the night of the game, the Varsity Cheerleaders cheered the team on to victory.

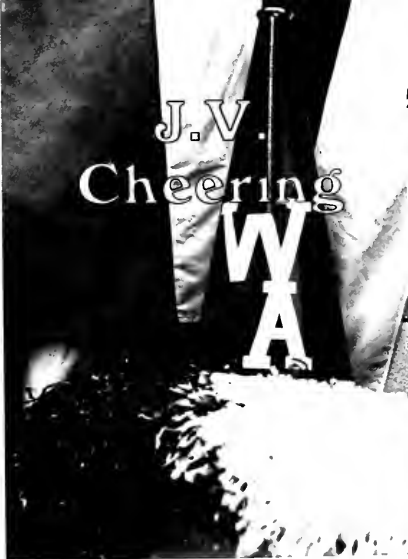

Mrs. Cannatella served as sponsor for her second year. Debbie Fritts and Juli Black were Captain and Co-Captain respectively. During the summer, the Cheerleaders attended Golden Eagle Cheerleading Camp at Tift College where they received ribbons of excellence for spirit and placed in final competition. Members of the team were Starr Barron, Lori Daniel, Holly Ellison, Robin Hall, Cindy Huff, Donna Jones, DeSales Rosetti, Anita Serrato, and Jan Strickland.

Varsity Boys Basketball

Varsity Boys: Running For Region

Although practicing and training daily for many weeks, Coach Ezell's boy's Varsity Basketball Team ended its 1980-81 season with more losses than wins. Even with such outstanding starters as David Lowry, Cory Eubanks, Tommy Kammerer, Chuck Hoffman, and Steve Cunningham, the team did not achieve the success it had hoped for. Most of the games, however, were lost by only small margins; four games were lost by only one point.

Though no one player stood out as a super star, the individuals on the 1980-81 squad worked well together as a team. The combination of Lowry, Eubanks and Cunningham proved successful as the three scored approximately sixty percent of the team's total points.

Basketball

Effort Does Pay Off!

The 1980-81 girl's varsity basketball team although besieged with many problems showed considerable improvement toward the end of their season. The young team faced many experienced teams such as Briarwood, Greater Atlanta Christian Academy, Troup County, and Westminster yet performed admirably. The lady War Eagles defeated Stockbridge twice, M.D. Collins once and Lakeshore once to end the season with a good record. A major obstacle the lady War Eagles faced this season was the fact that only two starters, Paige Goldsmith, and Beth Hale returned from last year's team. Other members of the squad included Ann Timmons, a Senior; Mindy Larcom, Debbie Cole.

Young Players Polish Skills

Although the Girl's J.V. team worked diligently throughout the year, their record was disappointing. The team, however, played many exciting and close games. The most valuable players for the team were Susan Mullins and Rhonda Goldsmith. Coach Carroll provided constructive leadership and put in much time with the girls. Aside from the win-loss column, the team had a successful season because they improved significantly and gained experience. They are looking forward to a successful season next year.

J.V. Boys

Winning Season For J.V. Players

Under the leadership of Coach Tim McKane, this year's J.V. team had an excellent season, finishing with a record of 10-2. Led by starters Mike Johnson, Will Jones, Barham Cook, Jimmy Witherspoon, and John Brooks, the team's primary asset was consistency. Another helping factor was excellent play by Chip Ezell, Eric Archer, and Josh Thorpe, who came off the bench to help pull the Eagles through the tight spots. An extra meaning was added to the winning record as it was Coach McKane's final season coaching at Woodward. The entire team is to be commended for their hard work, dedication, and spirit throughout the year. The team is looking forward to a very successful 81-82 season, with many talented players returning to J.V.

9th Grade Basketball

Gaining Experience

The Ninth Grade basketball team, coached by Jack Bennett, displayed a fighting spirit but was unable to come up with a winning season. The team's record for the 1980-81 year was 5 wins and 7 losses. Woodward's biggest challenge came from the teams of J.C. Booth and Newton County. Woodward's team seemed almost evenly matched with the rivals such as Marist, St. Pius, and Crestwood. Woodward's War Eagles defeated Westminster twice during the season.

Perhaps the strongest aspect of the Woodward Ninth Grade team was their defense. Most players were fast and proved successful in their defense endeavors.

Although the team lost more games than it won, several young, talented players gained valuable experience and will undeniably be great assets to the Junior Varsity squad in the coming season.

Swimming

Building For The Future

Outstanding swimmers on the 1981 team were: Jeff Soracco and Tommy Holt. Soracco excelled in the 100 meter breast stroke. Holt placed fourth in the 50 meter free style as a Sophomore. Also displaying exceptional talent were divers Barry Applegate and Ida Hudson.

Gymnastics

WA

GYMNASTICS

In The Air, And On The Mat!

Both Girls and Boys Gymnastic Team's tough hours of practice paid off in the 1981 season. One reason for the overall success was the fact that both teams were fortunate to have many returning lettermen from last year. Additionally, the members displayed admirable team work and related well to Coaches Vincent and Boyer.

Also impressive was the high degree of individual dedication to the sport. As Coach Vincent stated, "I would rather have seven dedicated athletes on the team than fifty people who don't care."

Members of the Girls team included: Darlene Lee, Margaret Eberhart, DeSales Rosetti, Leslie Hutcheson, Jamie Dinnerstein, Nancy Randolph, and Euodia Rambo.

Outstanding members of the Boys team were Robert Ross and Spider Maxwell. Both were among the top all-around gymnasts in the state of Georgia.

W.A. Grapplers Hit The Mats

This year's varsity wrestling team had an outstanding year primarily due to consistency. Wrestlers such as Pete Fritts, Charlie McNash, John McMillian, Joe Leyva, Clint Stallings, Charles Bouvette, Daryl Post and Jerome

Rossetti continuously provided winning performances to lead the team to a 5-2 record.

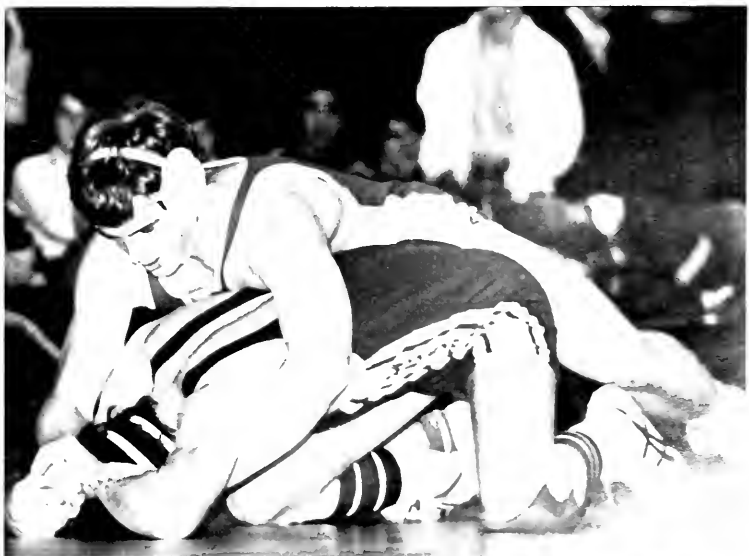

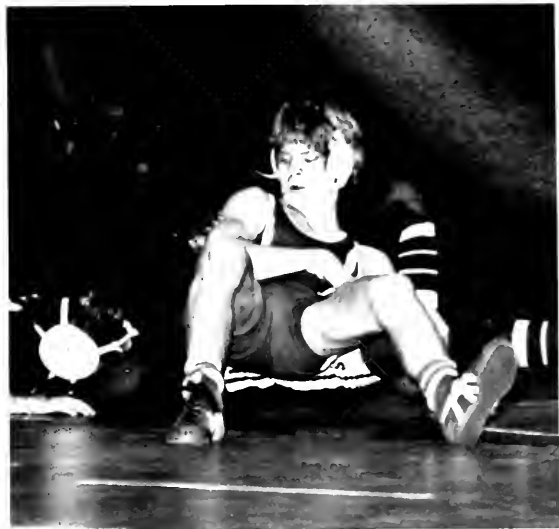

In the opening tri-match, the War Eagles defeated Westminster by a score of 58-13 but fell to Marist 13-43. By defeating North Springs and Parkview by scores of 42-25 and 51-21 respectively the War Eagles proved that they were a team to be reckoned with.

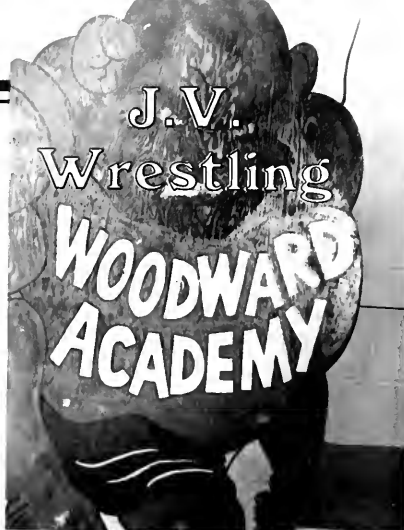

The War Eagles qualified ten wrestlers in Region 4-AAA for the state AAA tournament held at Woodward. Pete Fritts and Charlie McNash placed first, while Clint Stallings, John McMillian, Joe Leyva and Jerome Rosetti finished second place. Woodward placed 12th out of 53 teams at the State AAA finals.

The J.V. wrestled a winning '80-'81 season, and had many outstanding matches. The team also had many outstanding wrestlers such as Ken Lane and Richard Milnichuk, both of whom won first place in five out of six matches.

The season opened with an awesome victory over Marist. The final score was 36-15. In this exciting match, Cliff Daniels, Mark Linder, Van Panter, and Charles Getz all won by pin. Other winners in this match were Lane and Richard Milnichuk.

Another awesome victory of WA was that over Westminster. The winners in this match were Pflug, Daniels, Getz, Holmes, and Lane.

The final score was 32-19.

A victory over Feldwood made WA's record three wins and no losses. WA defeated Feldwood by a margin of 30 points. In this shut-out wrestlers Lane, Milnichuk, Linder and Ebinger all won by pin, and Moss and Cooper won by decision.

At the Woodward invitational Wrestling Tournament, the War Eagles took three firsts, and won the overall tournament. Cliff Daniels, Ken Lane and Richard Milnichuk were the first place winners.

Soccer

Out Of Winter, Soccer Sprints Into Action

In 1980-81, interest in soccer increased at the Academy. Among the 22 man varsity team, 16 players were Seniors and provided exceptional leadership. Under the coaching of Mr. Mike Carpenter, and co-captains David Barnett and Jim Keener, the team blended skill and innate ability to achieve notable success.

Realizing the need to always be grooming new talent, Coach Carpenter worked with the Junior Varsity coach, Mr. Tom Faber and the Ninth Grade coach, Mr. George Dietz, in developing the skills of younger players. Based on the results of the 1980-81 season, Woodward can reasonably expect to be a powerful soccer opponent in the State of Georgia.

Long Practices And Long Miles

The 1981 Girls Varsity Track Team, coached by Mrs. Lindy Hale, gained both experience and leadership in their successful season. Most of the girls involved were sophomores and juniors with several seniors taking key roles in organizing the group. There are two discouraging factors, however. First, the fact that many of the girls were inexperienced runners and secondly, the opposition they faced was tough. Although faced with many problems, the runners were still able to win many meets, and put up notable competition.

Outstanding members of the track team included Louis Murphy and Freddie Blackman.

FIRST ROW: Billy Linz, Geoffrey Rhue, Patrick Albuquerque, Coach Marion Blume.

Varsity Swings Into Action

The Baseball Team started off their season with high spirit and potential. During the first week of spring practice, the team learned to improve their skills at Boca Raton, Florida. After all the long practices, the team was able to withstand tough opponents. The key players included Jim Olsen, Tim Murray, Howard Delashmit and Jeff Ramey.

Double And Deuces

Both the Girls and Boys Varsity Tennis Team were under the direction of new coaches for the 1980-81 season. Assuming coaching responsibility for the Girls team was Mr. Jeff Sanders. The new coach for the Boys team was Mr. Jack Bennett. Both men were new to the faculty in 1980 and proved to be not only excellent teachers but superior coaches as well.

The Girls team had many returning lettermen from the 1979-80 season. Among the strong players were Daphne Bryson, Leslie Blatchford, and Bitsy Smith. A new member to the team, Lisa Frost, proved to be a welcome asset in developing a winning season.

The Boys team also had many returning lettermen. Valuable players for the 1980-81 season included: Cliff Hilderbrand, Richard Johnston, Wade Johnston, and Billy Jones. New members were Ric Rogers and Cory Eubanks.

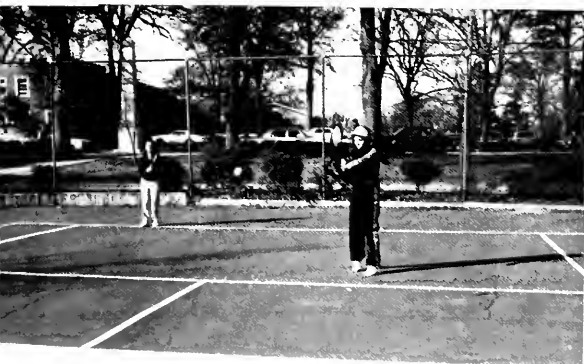

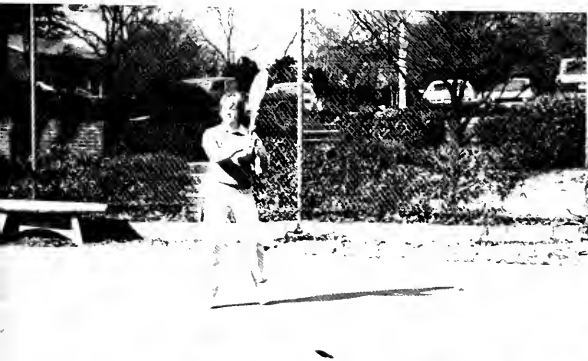

FIRST ROW: Bitsy Smith, Leslie Blatchford, Marya Nuss, Colleen Ross, Daphne Bryson.

Softball:

Takes A Swing

Lead by Coach Elaine Carroll, the Woodward Academy Softball team performed admirably.

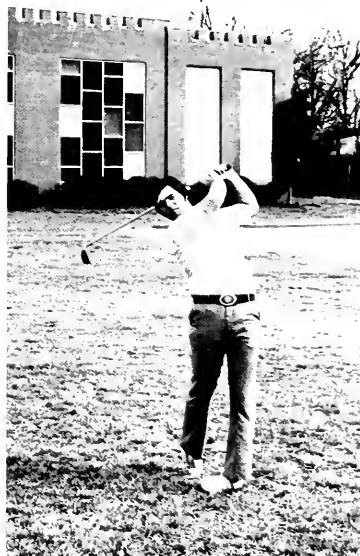

With such starters as Paige Goldsmith, Robin Hall, Ann Timmons, and Laura Harris, the team dominated their opponents. Playing good, basic, smart softball was Coach Carroll's goal, and the Woodward girls followed through in true W.A. style. With many returning lettermen, the 1981-82 season will more than likely also be a winning one.

Golf 1981 A Successful Season

Under the coaching of Mr. Lee Vincent, the Woodward Academy golf team displayed a great deal of talent. Traveling to different golf courses in the area, the group established themselves as outstanding athletes who not only played well but also understood the strategy behind the game. Much of the success of the 1980-81 season was due to the fact that nearly all of the team members were returning lettermen. Outstanding players were Kathe Kingston and Clarke Spratlin.

Being In Ninth Grade Means . . .

realizing that you have "arrived" as an Upper School student.

walking into the Brewster Hall courtyard and feeling, for the first time, that it really belongs to you.

longing sometimes for the security of the Middle School.

realizing that, unlike when you were in Brand Hall, you are now the shortest student in the hallway during class change.

feeling a little apprehensive about the work load in the Upper School.

making a Junior Varsity team.

looking forward to next year when you won't be low man on the Upper School totem pole.

wanting to play out on the parade field during lunch but not daring to due to the risk of being called "childish" by your new Upper School colleagues.

trying, for the first time, to explain your tardiness to Dean Krueger.

learning that detentions are to be avoided at all costs.

coming to the realization that life isn't so easy after all.

starting to take note of campus coeds. having enough free time to spend in the student lounge to become a pool, table tennis, or foosball shark.

acting "cool" around your friends who are still in the Middle School.

experiencing the elation of making the grades for Silver Eagle.

determining that next quarter you will be on the Gold Eagle list-and doing it. learning how to work out problems on your own.

beginning to enjoy the challenge of life in the Upper School and knowing that you're going to make it.

On Being Sixteen: Sophomores

The average American teenager dreams of becoming sixteen, and the members of the Class of 83 are no exception. It seems that sixteen is the magical number the age which represents freedom. Gone are the carpools and being taken with your date by your mom to the movies or a school dance. At sixteen you get the ever anticipated driver's license!

Being sixteen is not all fun; however, with the freedom, comes added responsibility. Since parents are not always there now, you must learn to evaluate situations and make decisions on your own. The real catch, however, comes in having to accept the consequences of your decisions but that's all part of growing up.

Juniors Work For Jr.-Sr. Prom

Over the past several years, the members of the Class of 1982 have established themselves as a group of hard workers. Perhaps that collective characteristic was best displayed in the class's preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom. Having begun fund raising during their sophomore year, the class collected over four hundred dollars to get the project started. During their junior year, class members conducted various fund raising events such as the sponsoring of concession stands at the ninth grade football games, conducting Spirit Days, and the promoting of Academy bake sales.

On the evening of May 16, 1981, all the planning and work paid off. Choice, Georgia's number one band, provided the entertainment as Juniors and Seniors gathered at the Top of the Mart Ballroom to enjoy the best Prom ever held by Woodward Academy.

The Class Of 1981 Pays Tribute To Marion O. Blume

Chosen by the Class of 1981 as the faculty member who was the most influential during their high school career, Mr. Marion O. Blume is the recipient of this year's Senior Tribute. As a faculty member, parent, and coach, Mr. Blume has devoted over twenty years of dedicated service to GMA and Woodward Academy. His kindness, sense of humor, and profound understanding of students and their problems could come only to a teacher who has literally lived his job. He has endeared himself to the members of the Class of 1981 who, through this tribute, express their gratitude to Coach Marion O. Blume.

Jr. P.A.L.

Junior Pal members are chosen in the spring of each year. The selection is based on recommendations from the Middle School principal, faculty members, and counselors. Some of the characteristics which are desirable in potential Junior Peer Advisory League candidate are enthusiasm, well rounded interests, and an earnest desire to be of assistance to the school administration, faculty, and student body. The Middle School group's primary responsibility involves the orientation of new students to the Woodward campus, community, and lifestyle. Additionally, Junior Pal members assist with the parents' day program.

Drama Club

Perhaps not a true club in the usual sense of the word, Margaret Ellison, Andrew Stith, Catherine Graham, Joanne Alexander, and Jeff Higgins comprised the Middle School students who were selected during the 1980-81 academic year to be in Academy drama productions. Specifically, the five Middle Schoolers were chosen for roles in the Woodward Fine Arts department's musical, Bye, Bye, Birdie which was presented in March of 1981. Additionally, because of their early stage experience and the opportunity of being coached by professionals such as Mr. Mike Heck, Mr. Alan McClung, and Mr. Ron Rodman, certainly Ellison, Stith, Graham, Alexander, and Higgins can well expect to expand their capabilities.

Coin And Shell

The Middle School Coin and Shell Club, which has as its advisor Major Ted Hays, offers interested students the opportunity to learn and study facts about shell and coin collecting. The fifteen member group meets twice each month. During their meetings, students learn names and categories of collectables. They also become aware of the value of different shells and coins and are instructed on the proper storage and display techniques.

Chorus

Under the direction of Mr. Alan C. McClung, the Middle School Chorus demonstrated their usual excellent style during the 1980-81 academic year. Performing at such events as the Annual Winter Concert, the District Five Chorale Festival, and the Annual Spring Concert, singers impressed audiences with their broad range of talent and superior ability. In anticipation of moving into the Festival Chorale, the members of the Middle School group studied basic introduction to music and attempted to enhance their vocal ranges. Additionally, the Middle School Chorus gained valuable experience in their numerous performances.

Members were chosen at the beginning of the school year. The main criteria for selection was innate talent which could be further refined by the program.

The group's advisor, Ms. Marna Williams, stressed the fundamentals of journalistic style. The newspaper, which was published quarterly included such articles as The Student of the Month and Newspaper Polls. Both faculty members and students found the paper's format interesting and helpful.

Football

All three of the Middle School Football Teams, the White, the Red, and the Blue, had excellent seasons. Under the coaching of Mr. Rusty Zaring, Mr. Bill Cobb, and Mr. Tim McKane, the players learned not only the fundamentals of football strategy, but they also learned how to work together as a team toward the successful completion of a project.

Drill Team

Under the leadership of co-captains Mandy McGowen and Tracy Crockett, the Middle School Drill Team performed high spirited routines at the football and basketball halftimes. Seemingly always optimistic, the seventeen girls featured outstanding percision which thrilled spectators and inspired players. Though nearly all members were novices at the drill team endeavor, the squad consistantly improved under the advising of Mrs. Janet Scott, a Middle School faculty member.

Cheerleading

Under the guidance of Mrs. Janet Scott, the Middle School Cheerleaders experienced a outstanding year. The girls cheered for for both football and basketball games and witnessed both teams have success seasons. An enthusiastic group, the cheerleaders made sign and posters to help raise spirit in the Middle School for the numerous games during the 1980-81 year.

Flag Corps

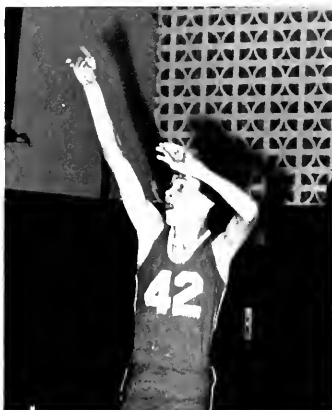

Like the Drill Team, the Middle School Flag Corps is also under th sponsorship of Mrs. Janet Scott. The Flag Corps performed dazzling routines during the halftime periods of football and basketball games. Practicing literally hundreds of hours during the fall and summer, the girls strove to design and polish routines that would establish them as a top group in showmanship. As a team, the Flag Corps were unsurpassed in raising the spirit of spectators and players at Middle School athletic events.

Boys Basketball

Under the expert coaching of Mr. Ed Notestine, the Middle School Boys Basketball Team had an excellent record. The seventh and eighth graders made an impressive showing during the 1980-81 season. Though continually faced with tough competitive teams, the boys fought for every point and justly earned the reputation of a team that wouldn't give up.

Girls Basketball

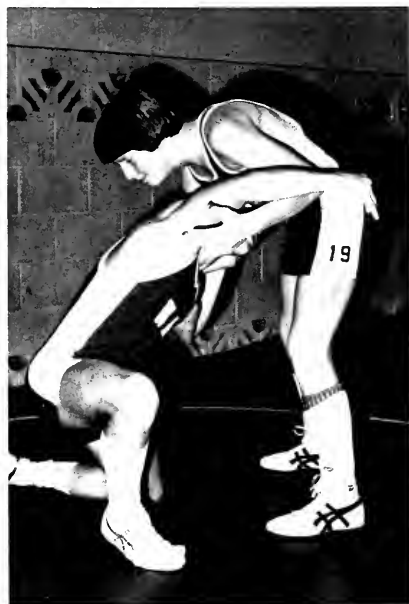

Putting in countless hours of afternoon practice time, the Girls Middle School Basketball Team completed a successful 1980-81 season. New coach, Mrs. Diane Rawlins, stressed speed and fundamental play to the young yet impressive team of seventh and eighth grade students. The girls completed the year with an exciting 27 to 18 win over a strong Crestwood team. With many of the girls returning next year, Coach Rawlins looks forward to another successful season in 1981-82.

Maintaining the winning tradition, the Middle School Wrestling team once again completed an undefeated season for the third year in a row. Under the able coaching of Mr. Pete Fritts, the team comprised of seventh and eighth graders, soundly defeated such teams as Lovett and Westminster. Particularly impressive were: Mike Stockton (84 pounds), Jim Buchanan (100 pounds), Clifford Daniel (107 pounds), Kenny Lane (114 pounds), Lee Miles (120 pounds), David Bobbitt (134 pounds), and Jeff Miller (140 pounds).

Track

Interest in track as a competitive sport increased at the Academy in 1981. Under the coaching of Mr. Ed Notestine, the Middle School Track Team established for itself a reputation of being winners. Practicing in the afternoon after school, the seventh and eighth graders ran along side of their counterparts in the Upper School. Of primary concern to Coach Notestine was the teaching of good technique and the development of innate potential of each individual in Woodward's Middle School program. Running what seemed to be endless laps paid off as the team achieved notable success in the 1981 season.

Perhaps one of the strongest athletic programs in the entire Academy is that of soccer. Viewed as distinct yet related groups, Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Middle School teams all practiced together. The Middle School group, coached by Mr. George Dietz, braved bitterly cold winds and rain-soaked soccer fields to finish out a successful season. Always eager to improve, the team displayed impressive style for such a young group.

Patrol

Evident from one's first visit to Woodward Academy's Busey School is the order and the friendliness of the faculty, staff, and the students. While faculty and staff are obviously involved in the development and enforcement of Academy rules and regulations, a select organization of students, the patrols, also assist in the monitoring of student behavior. In addition to their discipline duties, members of the patrol unit also help faculty members with projects and assist with the opening and closing of school. Student patrols are expected to display a high standard of conduct, good judgement and a desire to assist the school administration and the student body.

Because of the location of the Busey School, students of this school are able to take part in activities in which other students are not able to participate. One of these activities is horseback riding, and interested students at the Busey can participate in the Busey School Riding Club. Mrs. Stover, from Greenbrier Stables, instructs students not only in basics of hunt seat equitation but also in the care of horses and tack. Participating students take lessons once a week during their P.E. period.

Equestrian Club

4-H Club

The Busey School has its own Clayton County 4-H Club. Members attend meetings conducted by one of the Clayton County extension agents twice a month during sixth period. Each member chooses a certain project area in which he is interested and receives a project book in this area. During the year, members give demonstrations about their chosen project area. All fifth and sixth grade Busey School students are eligible for membership. Members include:

The Busey School 4th, 5th, and 6th grade chorus, practicing twice a week, performed several times during the 1980-81 school year. They played a major role in the annual Busey School Christmas production, and also went caroling at Christmastime.

Band

Interested students at the Busey School may participate in the Busey School Band. Mr. Ted Hays, coming from the main campus, conducts the band class twice a week during sixth period. Students in the fifth and sixth grades may be members of this beginning band. Band members include: BOTTOM ROW: Steven Jeffords, Zareen Yusufji, Laura Lopez, Susan Kim, Lonnie Collier. ROW 2: Joseph Hamner, Richard Teets, Wesley Wood, Bill Lane, Robert Kicklin.

National Bank of Georgia

Dear Friend,
At the National Bank of Georgia, we consider banking a people to people business. That's why one of the biggest differences you'll notice between NBG and other banks is the friendliness of our employees.

Our staff is made up of the kind of folks who don't mind taking a little extra time and effort to make your banking an easier, more enjoyable experience.

And that spirit applies to our dealings with all of our customers. From the youngster opening that first savings account, to the business person arranging a major loan.

So, when you need a friend at the bank, come to NBG. Because other banks may be able to offer you similar services, but they can't offer you our people. After all, we're the bank that is committed to offering you our compounded daily.

Your friends,
The People at NBG

Remember each other's
Problems we shared,
That shows
We both care.

We will always be together.

1981 PHOENIX TRIBUTE:

Mr. Edward A. Dearolph

Initiated in 1974, the Phoenix tribute recognizes those individuals who have given not only their professional expertise but also rendered notable unselfish dedication to the betterment of Woodward Academy.

The 1981 Phoenix staff recognizes Mr. Edward A. Dearolph as this year's outstanding member of the Woodward community. Known to most students by reputation if not personally, Mr. Dearolph since his arrival in 1965, has established himself as a great gentleman as well as a distinguished scholar. An avid reader, he is knowledgeable not only in his chosen field of physics, but also in numerous other academic disciplines. Ever present in his conversations and teachings are a quick wit and an earnest desire to develop the positive aspect of every situation.

As chairman of the Science Department, he has influenced the building of a curriculum that has its major goal making science understandable and applicable to everyday life. That honest and worthy approach is indicative of Gus Dearolph—a man of infinite compassion, insight and humanity.

The Eighties-A Premier Decade

To go along with the beginning of a new decade a series of firsts occurred across the board. In sports, politics, fashion trends, and other categories, giant steps were taken in startling new directions.

Georgia sports fans enjoyed peak performances from their athletes as the Atlanta Falcons captured the NFC Western Division Championship, the Georgia Bulldogs finished the season as the number one team in college football, and closer to home, our own Woodward War Eagles swept the 3-AAA division and won the state championship title. On the other side of the coin, the Atlanta Hawks, plagued by injury, had one of their worst seasons ever. Atlanta's budding soccer team, however, played an outstanding indoor season and won the Central Division NASL Championship.

The beginning of the eighties heralded great political change. Ronald Reagan's landslide presidential defeat of Jimmy Carter, and the simultaneous election of several Republican officials represented a clear voice of the American electorate making its wishes known. The dramatic and emotional rescue of the fifty-two U.S. citizens held hostage in Iran drew the American people closer together, while debates on the economy divided them. New and drastic policy changes instituted under the new administration included sweeping government spending cuts, hiring freezes and oil price decontrols.

Fashion, too, underwent a shocking transformation. The "new wave" look hit the scene and featured avant-garde combinations of color, texture, and length. Also popular was the "prep" look in fashion.

New musical groups with names like the Boomtown Rats, Devo, and the Split Ends, grew in popularity as people enjoyed the mix of rock-n-roll and electronic sound effects. The eighties dawned as an era that combined the best of the old and new.

Scientific breakthroughs were an integral part of society as the eighties began. Machines were developed that allowed the deaf to use the telephone, built in computers became standard energy conservation equipment on American cars and programs were developed that taught infants to read and to do simple mathematic problems.

In all fields of study, and in virtually all aspects of life, incredible progress was made. The giant steps that were made transcend the boundaries of race, sex, color, and religion and benefited all Americans.

Woodward Academy: 81 Years Of Growth, Success, And Memories.

The academic year 1981 brought a great deal of joy to everyone at Woodward Academy. We welcomed a new Headmaster, produced a state championship football team, enjoyed a redesigned student parking lot, and congratulated several faculty newlyweds. A class period change in schedule and new rules in the student lounge made studying an easier task for many of us. Additionally in 1981, the Woodward student body made significant contributions to the community's hungry and needy through numerous philanthropic projects such as the Yellow Ribbon Day collection and Hunger Task Force Days. In 1981, students became aware of Woodward's commitment to its community and to its students as the school offered generous programs to encourage and develop success.

A little sadness was a part of 1981, too. We hated to say good-bye to Mr. Tim McKane, Mrs. Ellen Mock, Dr. John Oliver and others, yet at the same time we welcomed with open arms the new faculty members who joined us.

1981 was a good year a time of growth, success, and of memories. As we conclude this eighty-first year of the Academy, we do so with understandable sadness in that it is all over, but also, we feel great pride in our accomplishments and a high expectation for the future of Woodward Academy and her people.
